Astros Start Tests for Monday Shot

CAPE KENNEDY, FLA.—AP —With their double-rendezvous and space-walk launching only six days away, the Gemini 10 astronauts and their launch crews today start two days of rocket and spacecraft tests.

Navy Cmdr. John W. Young and Air Force Maj. Michael Collins planned to suit up today and climb into their space ship while ground crews conducted a two-rocket countdown rehearsal.

Scheduled for 4:41 P. M.
The rockets involved are an Atlas-Agena, which is to boost the Agena into orbit as a target satellite at 4:41 p. m. EDT next Monday, and a Titan 2, which is to hoist Gemini 10 into space at 6:21 p. m. EDT.

The astronauts will be back in the spacecraft Wednesday — this time in street clothes — to participate in a simulated flight and practice several emergency procedures and key elements of the planned three-day flight.

The backup astronauts, Navy Cmdr. Alan L. Bean and Marine Maj. Clifton C. Williams Jr. also will take part.

These are the last two major tests before the launch.

The first afternoon launching was dictated by the position of another Agena, which the astronauts hope to rendezvous with on the second full day of their flight. That Agena was left in space last March after the Gemini 8 flight.

4th Orbit Link Goal
Young and Collins plan to link up with it during the fourth orbit.

They are to use the Agena's powerful engine to place them in a position to rendezvous with Agena 8. Collins is to step outside the spacecraft on a 50-foot lifeline and use a jet gun to move over to the Agena 8. He is to remove one micrometeorite detection package and attach another for later astronauts to retrieve.

That will be the second of two 55-minute working periods Collins plans outside. Earlier, he is to open his hatch, stand in the seat and conduct scientific and photographic experiments.

King Calls Nonviolent War on Chicago, Daley

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has declared a nonviolent war on Chicago and Mayor Richard J. Daley.

King announced a "nonviolent assault" on the city and Daley after a two-hour meeting with Daley Monday. The meeting was "very disappointing," said King, chairman of the Southern enclave.

"We are demanding, not begging," he told newsmen. "Our (the Negro) vote can and will be the balance of power."

"I do not think that the mayor understands the depth or dimension of the problem. If nothing is done, we are inviting a social disaster."

Daley told newsmen: "We asked them for their solution. They did not have any. All they could do was recite problems."

But another civil rights leader said King and Daley were "closer than ever before because of the meeting."

MIGS Fire, Flee; Strike North Anew

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. fliers tangled with two MIG21s and eluded a barrage of missiles over North Viet Nam during bombing raids on missile, radar and fuel sites, the U.S. command reported today.

In a day of furious air activity Monday, one missile site was destroyed and two oil installations and a radar site bombed by a spokesman said.

Hit Barges, Junks
Carrier planes pounced on some 200 barges and junks and pilots reported destroying or damaging 59 of them.

The U.S. command announced the loss of an F105 Thunderchief to Communist groundfire Monday. The pilot bailed out but he could not be rescued because of heavy anti-aircraft fire and is listed as missing, a spokesman said.

U.S. headquarters also announced that a Navy F8 Crusader went down 40 miles northeast of Haiphong today and that the pilot was rescued. It was not known whether the plane crashed because of mechanical failure or was shot down, a spokesman said.

Still Ground Lull
Ground action in South Viet Nam continued in a lull. A U.S. military spokesman described the situation as "very quiet in the last 24-hour period."

South Vietnamese army headquarters reported a sweep in the environs of Saigon by 1,000 rangers and regional forces Monday killed at least 40 Viet Cong. Another 40 to 50 enemy bodies may have been carried away by the retreating enemy forces, a spokesman said.

The seven-hour clearing action took place in swamplands within five miles of the capital and was aimed at forestalling a reprisal attack on South Viet Nam's major oil depot. South Vietnamese casualties were reported light.

Turmoil Threat Returns
The threat of political turmoil returned to the Viet Nam scene with a new call for the boycott of the September constituent assembly elections. The call, amounting to a declaration of war on the military government, was made by radical elements of some of the country's major religious and political groups.

Board May Reconsider Issue

Renew Teacher Bargaining Bid

A request from the Kingston Teachers Federation to hold collective bargaining elections in the fall and a resolution to investigate a new type of school construction were highlights of Monday night's final Kingston Board of Education meeting of the current school year.

Vernon L. Outwater Jr., president of the local teachers' union said that a third of the change has been replaced since last year's denial of collective bargaining among teachers, administrators and board members.

Asks for New Vote
He indicated that this difference might have brought about some changes in the Board's policy on the matter and requested another vote on the issue.

Arthur H. Withall, president of the Board said that he "can't see much happening in the change the picture," adding that last year's collective bargaining vote was unanimously negative. But Withall did suggest that the Board reconsider the issue in September.

Text of Statement
Following is the text of the KTF statement which Outwater delivered last night:

"The 1965-66 school year was a rather hectic period for the Kingston City Schools Consolidated. It was hoped that the 1966 Legislature would pass a law guaranteeing public employees a right to collective bargaining. The law-makers, however, could not agree on a bill.

"As we have stated on many occasions, collective bargaining for public employees and, in particular, school teachers is not denied by law. Neither is it specifically guaranteed by law.

Teachers in many cities now have collective bargaining rights. Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. has ruled that Boards of Education may enter into C. B.

"On behalf of the Kingston Teachers Federation, Local 781, AFL-CIO, I appear here tonight to ask a question. Last year the board said in effect, 'We will not deal with teachers collectively until we are forced to do so.' Since that time 33 and one-third of the board has been replaced.

Before making plans for 1966-67 the KTF would like to know the attitude of the present board.

"We respectfully ask, in the interest of resolving our differences through a workable structure, that the Board agree to hold a collective bargaining election in the fall of 1966. Details can be worked out by representatives of the Board of Education and the administration and representatives of the competing teachers organizations. May we have such an election?"

New Building Plan
In other business, the Board unanimously approved the expenditure of funds to investigate the possibilities of a new kind of school construction.

The resolution authorized the establishment of a committee which will journey to school districts in Illinois whose buildings are constructed according to the Educational Facilities Plan. The Plan was first devised by Dr. Harold Gore of New York City under the auspices of the Ford Foundation.

It calls for an internal component core which makes it possible to realign walls with a minimum of changes in utilities.

The committee will consist of Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent; Ira Shaw, assistant superintendent; interested members of the Board and local architect Harry Halverson. The group has been allocated $1,000 for travel and expenses.

Transportation contracts amounting to a total of $329,604.10 were awarded to various route contractors for the 1966-67 school year.

Among resignations accepted with regret were those of Leo Cecil Linda Eckel and Edward Kotson, teachers in the Kingston Consolidated School System.

Instructional appointments included Miss J. Bryant, social studies; John Covell, guidance counselor; Robert Doucette, English; Louis D. Hadcock, mathematics and Mrs. Anna J. Tucker, mathematics.

Non-instructional resignations accepted with regret were those of Marie Decker, stenographer and Minnie Zweben, library aide. Edward Knater was named clerk of the works at the M. Clifford Miller School.

The Board will reconvene September 8.

Firemen Add $250 to Fund For Information About Fires

Information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons who set fires in any building in Kingston is now worth $500.

Local 461 of Kingston Unified Fire Fighters Association at its July meeting unanimously voted to offer a $250 reward for information about persons who willfully or maliciously start a fire in any building, whether occupied or not, within the corporate limits of the City of Kingston.

$250 Offered Earlier
This is in addition to an earlier reward of $250 made by radio station WGHQ.

UFAA officials said today they are fully aware of the extreme danger now confronting every person living in the city due to the failure to apprehend the party or parties involved.

Any information given will be kept in strict confidence and should be made available to the Police or Fire Department.

The UFAA statement said: "Your professional fire fighters are proud to join radio station

WGHQ, which has displayed great civic interest by acting and offering a like reward. It is hoped that this will be just a beginning and that public awareness and concern will aid in the apprehension of the arsonist."

Five Firemen Hurt
The recent rash of incendiaries reached the breaking point Sunday when five firemen were injured fighting a blaze which threatened damage to the West Shore and Eichler Hotels and two parked cars on Railroad Avenue.

Two deliberately set fires were reported Monday morning in addition to the one on Sunday.

Note Sales Tax Collections Are At $248 Million

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Tax Department reports sales tax collections in New York State reached a quarterly high of $248.6 million from March through May.

Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy also said Monday he was "gratified" to report that administrative costs of collecting the tax had remained under one per cent, as originally predicted.

Of the total, the state retained $137.7 million and turned over $110.9 million to the communities that impose local sales taxes, with New York City receiving $88.2 million.

The state collects local taxes for the communities along with its own two per cent levy introduced last August.

The department reported that the state's total yield from inception of the tax has reached $49.6 million.

Murphy added he saw no reason why the tax should not produce the full amount of revenue expected from it. Gov. Rockefeller budgeted $8 million from the tax during the fiscal year that began April 1.

Warns Arms Parley

GENEVA (AP) — Gen. E.L.M. Burns of Canada warned the disarmament conference today that continued underground testing will upset the nuclear balance between the United States and the Soviet Union.

He said as long as there is no agreement to ban these tests, "the race continues to find and develop ever more elaborate offensive and defensive weapons systems as every modern government is expected by its people to make plans for various contingencies."

Attends Top-Level Albany GOP Session

Ulster County's Republican chairman, Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock, is in Albany today for the organization meeting of the Republican State Committee and to hear Chairman Carl Spad stake out a victory claim for Gov. Rockefeller in November.

The county GOP chief, who also is a member of the State Committee, went to today's top-level sessions with his co-committeemen from Ulster County, Mrs. Doris Stang of Kingston.

According to Chairman Wilson, the meeting of the State Republican organization will be for the purpose of electing new officers and the adoption of new party rules, as well as the task of formulating a course of action for the forthcoming state-wide elections.

"The view from where I stand today — on the eve of a critically important state election — is infinitely better than it was 18 months ago," Spad said.

"Now, because things are so much better," he continued, "we can discuss 1964 clinically — without shuddering."

Spad recalled GOP losses in the 1964 Johnson landslide and this year in remarks prepared for the committee's formal organization meeting.

About 10 of the committee's 343 members indicated in advance that they would attend. The rest sent proxy votes.

Spad, a Tarrytown resident, was unopposed for re-election, along with Vice Chairman William C. Rogalin of Manhattan, Secretary Guy A. Graves of Schenectady and Treasurer William L. Pfeiffer of Old Westbury, Long Island.

Gillen Refuses To Quit After Ellenville Vote

During a special meeting prior to the public vote on acceptance or rejection of the 1966-67 school budget, the Ellenville Board of Education last night voted 6 to 1 in favor of the resignation of Dr. Vincent P. Gillen, supervising principal.

State Defied
The action was taken in defiance of a directive issued in June by the New York State Department of Education, which advised against any action prior to the Board's Aug. 1 meeting with Dr. William Crewson, associate commissioner of the State office.

Dr. Crewson called the meeting in response to a letter in June from Board president Reuben Benson, who asked for state intervention into problems with the school district ranging from an anticipated loss of teacher personnel to continued defeat of proposed school budgets.

Tourist Centers Are Feeling Strike Pinch

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's tourist centers have begun to feel the pinch of the strike against five major airlines, a survey indicated today.

Hotels throughout the country reported cancellations as visitors found it difficult to get space on one of the nonstrike airlines. Some tourists lined up at airports for available seats while others took to trains and buses or cars. Some even hitchhiked.

In New York, for example, cancellations or "no shows" for reservations of the city's 90,000 hotel rooms have more than doubled since the airline strike began last Friday, a hotel association reported.

Usually around 15 per cent of those who reserve rooms fail to show up or cancel out, said Daniel C. Hickey, president of the New York State Hotel and Motel Association. He said the rate in New York City has gone up to between 40 and 50 per cent.

Hickey estimated the strike was costing the city's hotel industry $75,000 a day.

The New York Convention and Visitors Bureau put the tourist loss to the city as a whole at $500,000 a day because of the strike.

San Francisco hotel spokesmen said they had expected a large

Deny St. Lawrence Seaway Rate Increase

OTTAWA (AP)—The Canadian transport minister says flatly there will be no increase in St. Lawrence Seaway shipping tolls during the 1966 season.

J. W. Pickersgill told the House of Commons Monday that, if the government decided to raise tolls for the 1967 season, the announcement would be made in the House.

The Seaway Authority has proposed a 10 per cent toll increase and the issue now is before the cabinet.

Pickersgill's statement came in response to a request from John Diefenbaker, opposition leader, for assurances that increases would not be put into effect while Parliament was in summer recess.

Diefenbaker said his Conservative party has taken its strong stand against an increase because it would be detrimental to the Canadian economy.

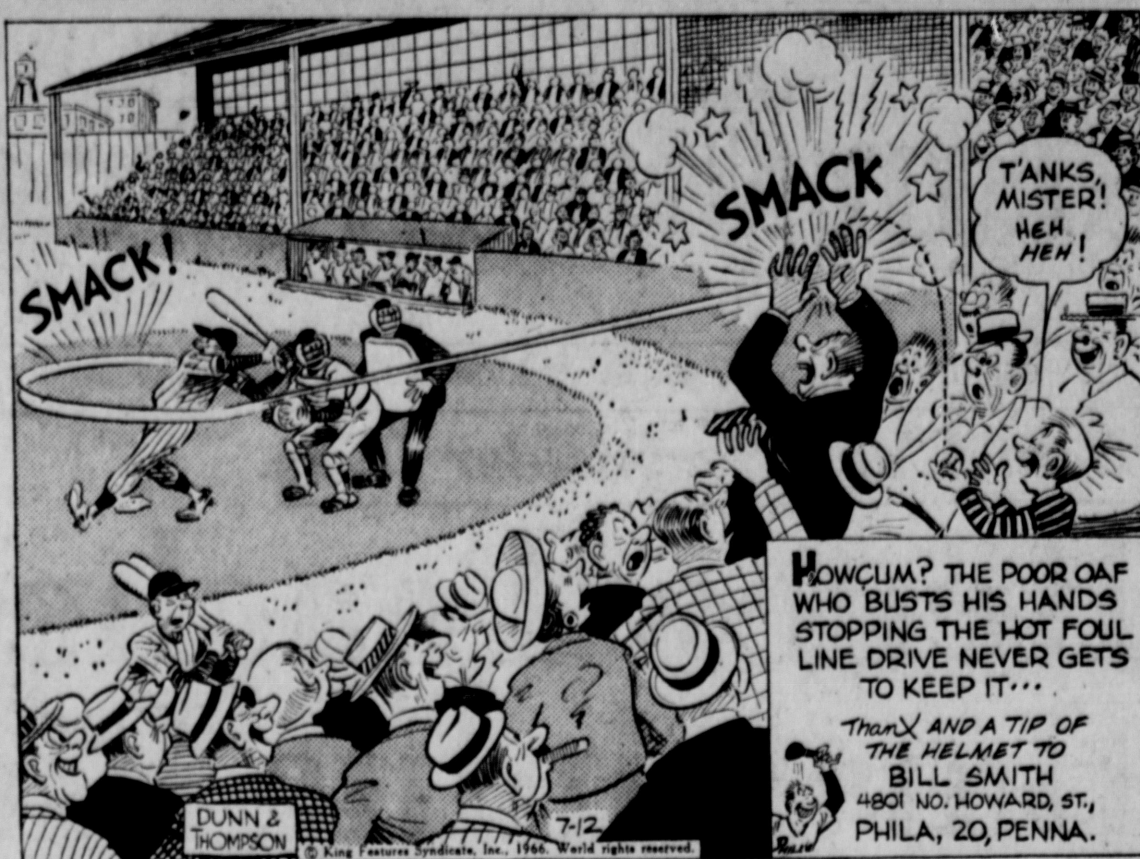

Pickersgill said the government is required by law to impose tolls to pay off the cost of building the waterway.

24-Hour System Coming

CHICAGO (AP)—The United States will switch to a 24-hour time system in the next five years, says a watch company executive.

Irving A. Kathmun, a vice president of the Gruen watch Co., said America would follow Europe's lead in adopting the 24-hour clock because of the influence of this nation's space effort.

Stone House Day in New Paltz is Saturday, Aug. 6. An exciting part of the day is the pageant—a reenactment of the burning of Wiltwyck by the Indians and the subsequent capture of the women and the children of that small Huguenot Village. The authentic Indian wedding ceremony is brightened by the costumes and dances of Alfred Douglas, a Cherokee Indian who lives in New Paltz.

The pageant will be held on the property of Harold Wood. The sloping lawn forms a natural amphitheatre.

Rehearsals for the pageant will be held on the Wood property Friday, July 29, Monday, Aug. 1, Wednesday, Aug. 3, and Friday, Aug. 5, all at 7 p. m. The performance will be Stone House Day, Aug. 6 at 2 p. m.

Plead Guilty in Holdup

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—One of two men charged with first-degree robbery in the $1,000 holdup of an A & P food store here has pleaded guilty and faces sentencing next week.

He is John B. King, 29, of Boston, who changed his plea from innocent to guilty Monday as he and Robert J. Johnson, 27, were about to go on trial.

Johnson adhered to his plea of innocent.

Judge Martin Schenck of Albany County Court put aside the sentencing of King for a week, pending completion of Johnson's trial.

The two were arrested at a police roadblock minutes after the holdup April 13, in which a shot was fired over a clerk's and customers' heads.

Monroe Pledges 47 to Samuels

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Howard J. Samuels, one of four announced candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, had the pledge today of Monroe County's 47 delegates to the party's state convention.

The unanimous endorsement of Samuels came Monday night at an organizational meeting here of the county's delegates.

For Samuels, it was his first formal endorsement by a county delegation. Monroe also was the first Upstate, urban county to pledge official support to a Democratic candidate.

Charles T. Maloy, county Democratic chairman, had urged the delegates to support the bid of the 46-year-old plastics millionaire from nearby Canandaigua. They agreed to vote for Samuels as a bloc until released by the candidate to vote individually.

The endorsement resolution pictured Samuels as epitomizing "the new, growing strength of the Democratic party Upstate and its fresh talent and leadership."

A total of 1,145 delegates will attend the state convention in Buffalo Sept. 7-8 to select the Democratic standard-bearer for the governorship race against Republican incumbent Nelson A. Rockefeller. The votes of 573 are needed for the nomination.

Frank D. O'Connor, president of the New York City Council and another Democratic hopeful, has been endorsed by Queens, Saratoga, Warren and Genesee counties for a total of 141 votes.

Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. claims a total of 12 votes from Dutchess and Delaware counties.

The fourth announced candidate, Nassau County Executive Eugene Nickerson, has no formal endorsement for any county.

Talman Considers Himself Winner Despite Losses

By WILLIAM TALMAN
For Cynthia Lowry
EDITOR'S NOTE — William Talman is television's champion loser — nine years as "Perry Mason's" principal adversary and he never won a case. The series is finished, but Bill will be around losing cases on reruns for a long time. He'll also be resuming his film and stage career.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This is new and different: A request for the reminiscences of the actor who played Hamilton Burger for nine years on the Perry Mason show is a little like asking the jockey who rode the horse that ran last to comment on an instant replay of the Kentucky Derby.

New Trend Possible
It could start a whole new trend — interviewing the losing pitcher on the postgame show. Or the on-camera arrival of a television fight announcer, complete with microphone and smelling salts, beside the prostrate figure of the loser of the big fight. "Rocky," he says. "Can you hear me? What happened?"

I found that the best way to deal with Burger's astonishing proclivity for absorbing punishment was to develop a sense of pride in the consistency of his endeavors. If you can't win for losing, okay, learn to love that losing streak. This might not work for say Leo Durocher, but I managed to convert the reasonable frustration growing out of my weekly display of wrongness into an unreasonable sense of accomplishment at continuing to compile the longest losing streak in legal history.

Actually, of course, aside from the courtroom contests, I didn't lose at all, and my memories of the last nine years are the rewarding memories of the people who labored together for a decade or longer, and whose labors made possible one of the proudest winners in television history.

Winning Team Effort
From Erle Stanley Gardner, the literary prodigy whose works continue to sell hugely, and Gail Jackson, surely the prettiest executive producer in show business, to the crew, we all were part of the team, and our team won. And I have made no closer, faster friends in my whole life than Ray Burr, Barbara Hale, Bill Hopper and that Ray Collins, whose death last year was indeed a loss to all of us.

Didn't it get boring, after all those years? Well, I'm subject to fatigue and boredom like any other human being, but I must say this, and most strongly: An actor who is lucky enough to be in a hit and knocks it because it gets "boring" after awhile is an idiot. Any actor who does that simply doesn't know the basic facts of his own business.

I might even say the fact that I lost every case turned out to be a kind of victory, because it gave people everywhere who were Perry Mason fans a kind of instant joke to use if they happened to run into me. And the thousands of people over these years who asked me when I was going to win a case are part of my memories, too.

My favorite example of comment from the public came when a gentleman approached me at Los Angeles International Airport one day and asked if he could shake my hand. He said, "Mr. Talman, I'm an attorney, my name is Burger, and I just want to tell you that you're ruining my business." He shook his head and walked off smiling.

Executive Starts Cutting Red Tape For China Visit

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A young business executive with a strong curiosity about Communist China has passed the first obstacle in an attempt to visit that country.

G. William Miller, president of Tectron, Inc., was notified that the U.S. State Department has validated his passport for a travel to Communist China under new guidelines announced Monday.

Ready for Next Hurdle
The next hurdle is to get approval from the Communist government, a step he will undertake immediately, "probably through Hong Kong."

Miller, 41, who rose to the presidency of Tectron in just four years, says his desire to visit China is not business oriented.

"My interest is as a citizen more than anything else," he said. "I think it would be useful to see first hand what we have been hearing about in third-hand reports."

Miller, who spent a year in China while in the armed forces at the close of World War II, said, "I would like to see what the Chinese have accomplished."

"Eventually we are going to have to improve relations with Red China or have the entire thing blow up in a war," he said.

With Tectron

Miller is a graduate of the Coast Guard Academy who earned a law degree at the University of California in Berkeley in 1952. Until 1956 he was a member of the Wall Street law firm of Cravath, Swaine and Moore and then joined Tectron as assistant secretary.

Four years later, at the age of 35, he was elected president of the diversified manufacturing company with annual sales of more than $1 billion.

He said he read several months ago of an easing of restrictions on travel to Red China by the State Department and decided "maybe I should take the first step to get the program rolling."

"I am very pleased the State Department saw fit to give its approval to me," he said. "And it only took 60 days. That was encouraging."

Spending Listed By Reagan, Yorty In Coast Races

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan spent $44,199.66 in winning the California Republican gubernatorial nomination, while Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty spent $311,283.78 in losing the Democratic nomination.

Reports released by Ben Hite, registrar of voters, Monday show that Reagan received $44,199.66 to pay for campaign expenses — $112,019 alone was raised April 20 at a $100-a-plate dinner.

Yorty's campaign treasurer said $30,348.88 was contributed toward the mayor's expenses. Yorty was defeated by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, and Reagan won over George Christopher, former mayor of San Francisco. Neither man's expenditure report was available but state law requires that campaign receipts and expenditures be reported by today.

Response Aids in Good Score

By JACOB Y. SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
The South hand shown yesterday and repeated today was actually held in a duplicate game. This was a pretty strong duplicate game and at eight of the 13 tables South responded one spade and wound up going down after North rebid one no-trump and passed at two spades.

These South players were all lucky in their choice of partners. There are some players who might have treated the two spade rebid as forward going and found a further bid with North's cards, but these Norths respected the two spade call as a sign off and passed.

At the five tables where South elected to pass West opened the bidding with one heart. In no instance did North or South find a further bid and each table produced a different result. At two tables East played three no-trump. One East was held to three when his opponent cashed a heart, two spades and a club. The other table made an over-trick when South opened a diamond and North played diamonds every time he got in the lead.

At another table East made the conservative bid of one no-trump after West's heart bid and played it there making three. The other two Easts raised hearts. Both Wests made three odd but one was in game and his North-South opponents were rewarded with a top score.

Note that all South players who chose to respond came out with good scores. This doesn't happen all the time. Sometimes the pass works out as the winning decision.

The Roman emperor Caracalla had a pet lion named Scimitar that sat with him at the table and slept at the foot of his bed.

Sinatra Smash Hit to be Sung By Mrs. Miller

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Watch out, Frank Sinatra, here comes Mrs. Miller with her version of "Strangers In The Night."

Capitol Records is rushing a version by Elva Miller onto the market, and the Sinatra hit song may never be the same. But then, the whole record business hasn't been quite the same since Mrs. Miller came on the scene.

Has it Album

Her album, "Mrs. Miller's Greatest Hits," has already sold 10,000 copies, a highly respectable figure. Her style? It has defied description. Suffice to say that she sings teen-age record hits in a mature contralto. She also whistles.

Frankly 58, Mrs. Miller has no illusions about her achievement. "I'll go along with it as long as it lasts," she remarked. "It would be foolish at my age to become starry-eyed. If all this comes to an end, I still have my home and my many interests. And I will have had a lot of fun."

It all started because Mrs. Miller, an amateur singer of Claremont, Calif., made regular visits to a Hollywood studio to record songs, mostly of a sacred nature, for her own pleasure. On one occasion, her accompanist, Fred Bock, slipped some rock 'n' roll numbers among her hymns.

"I think you're having fun with Mrs. Miller," she said. But she went along with him. It happened that Capitol had been searching for an operatic voice to render beate-type hits. Mrs. Miller seemed an ideal choice.

Most of her numbers were recorded in one take, to preserve the ingenious quality. Some of the errors were deliberat, as in one number when she was instructed to begin singing a half-beat behind the orchestra.

Concerning the sales of her records, Mrs. Miller declared: "I don't understand it, but teenagers seem to be buying them. As I see it, there are two kinds of teenagers. There are the sophisticated ones; who dress like Sonny and Cher; they don't buy my album. Then there are the teenagers who dress neatly; they are the ones who do buy my records."

Mrs. Miller, who had done no real performing since her high school days in Dodge City, Kan., now finds herself in show business. She has appeared on the TV programs of Ed Sullivan, Merv Griffin, Mike Douglas and Art Linkletter. During the Griffin show she found herself sharing a dressing room with Sally Rand—"a nice person; she lives in Glendora, not far from Claremont."

Recently she made her acting debut, portraying a dance-hall singer in a new TV series, "The Road West." Next month she plays her first night club engagement at Harrah's, Lake Tahoe.

Does she have any qualms about appearing in night clubs? "Not as long as the stage is separated from the audience," she said. "I like to sing. What people do in the auditorium is their own affair."

Mrs. Miller has now had to acquire a manager, press agent, tax lawyer, accountant, etc. She is also planning to move to nearby Glendale to be closer to the entertainment capital. Her husband, a retired rancher, John Miller, is sympathetic with her career.

"He knows I am mature enough to realize that things like this run their course," explained Mrs. Miller.

Still Saved Money

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The State Commission on Economy and Efficiency is one of the few state departments whose payroll didn't grow last May.

The commission, created in 1964 to suggest ways to save the taxpayers' money, gave up. By going out of business, it saved the state four workers and $2,352 per month.

Mathews Appointed To New WGHQ Post

The appointment of William J. Mathews Jr., as general manager of WGHQ AM and FM, was announced today by Harry M. Thayer, president of the Herald Tribune station.

He also has served in a sales capacity with KCRL-TV in Reno, Nevada.

Highland Bank Boosts Capital Funds by Sale

HIGHLAND, N. Y.—The First National Bank of Highland has increased its capital funds by $400,000 to $1,238,576, according to Joseph Alfano, president.

The increase was effected through a sale of capital notes to the Franklin National Bank in New York City and Long Island. In an unusual financial transaction said to be the first in the nation, the capital notes will be repaid in monthly installments over a 20-year period.

The capital notes held by Franklin, Alfano explained, are subordinated to the claims of depositors and other senior creditors of the bank. The transaction has been approved, he said, by the Comptroller of the Currency in Washington.

Alfano said the additional capital was needed because of rapid growth of First National, said to be the fastest growing bank in Ulster County. It has total current resources of $20 million, up from $7.3 million at the end of 1960. Besides its main office in Highland, First National has offices in Milton, New Paltz and Newburgh.

Alfano said "the additional capital will enable First National to support a rising level of deposits which in turn can be put to use to meet the rapidly expanding local loan demands."

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Folks:

This hint is for those who get blisters and calluses on your hands when hoeing, chopping or raking in the yard.

Take a few inches of thin rubber sponge, fold it over and hand stitch along the side opposite the fold.

Push this tube (it will be open on both ends) over the handle of your garden tool and secure in place with string or tape. Put one where the right hand usually holds the handle and one for that good old leftie. It sure saves wear and tear on the hands.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My husband travels quite often so I put a small jar of powdered instant breakfast drink and a plastic spoon in his suitcase. All he has to do is mix the powder with water.

Now he has his juice right after he wakes, instead of having to wait until he gets to a restaurant. It helps him get started in the mornings . . . and reminds him of home.

Mrs. Larry Iler

Dear Heloise:

I have been using my daughter's bathinette in my laundry room.

I fold clothes on the top. In the bath section, I store clothes to be ironed. On the bottom shelf, I store my laundry products.

Grace M. Whipple

Dear Heloise:

Here is a little idea that saves time and trouble.

I use belt eyes in my curtain tie backs — one in each end. I hammered small-headed nails in place and bent them slightly backwards to hook the eyes on.

These tiebacks are easy to take down; or if anyone uses her curtains for shades (as I do) this is really a big help.

I tie my curtains back in the day time. At night I unhook one end of the tiebacks and the curtains fall together covering the window.

Mrs. J. M. Caldwell

Dear Heloise:

Ice cream has always been my favorite dessert.

One evening when "the little woman" was dishing up my bowl of ice cream, she found the chocolate syrup can empty. So, she served my dessert plain.

I wasn't to be "done out" of topping so I suggested that she pour some maple syrup over my ice cream, and let me try that for a change. It was so delicious I have been using it ever since.

Dick Murray

Now, doesn't that sound yummy? And since syrup comes in

Plan Nonviolent Push on Grenada In Mississippi

GRENADA, Miss. (AP) — A nonviolent push by Negroes to make Grenada "an open city" shaped up today with the militant faction watching scornfully, poised to take over if the drive falters.

The Rev. Hosea Williams, a leader in Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference, told a rally Monday night: "Get on your going-to-jail shoes. We are going to keep the streets of Grenada, Miss., hot."

Williams said tactics would include a boycott of white merchants downtown and numerous civil rights suits.

As Williams spoke inside a hot and crowded Negro church, Stokely Carmichael, head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, stayed outside with several of his workers.

Carmichael said SNCC had many workers in the area but wasn't involved with the SCLC in the "open city" drive. The two groups disagree on strategy.

SNCC has become one of the most militant of the numerous civil rights groups. Its espousal of "black power" has caused consternation among other groups such as King's SCLC, which believes in working with whites where possible.

"We'll wait until they get tired of marching," Carmichael said. "Then we will come in."

Grenada's 12-man police department, beefed up with four auxiliary officers and 10 highway patrolmen, placed roadblocks on streets leading past the church during the rally and patrolled the area.

Farm Worker Killed
GENEVA, N.Y. (AP)—A 52-year-old farm worker was killed Monday when the tractor he was operating overturned on him in a pea vinery four miles south-west of Geneva.
He was Nelson Williams of Seneca Falls, an employee of Comstock's Canning Co. Williams lived on Route 114. The vinery is on Route 14A.

The South Dakota Bad Lands were so named because of the area's eroded condition and not, as some have believed, because of frequent stage coach robberies during the 19th century. The term "bad lands" is now applied to other areas with the same conditions. French trappers originated the term when they crossed this forbidding territory in South Dakota over 100 years ago.

Hurt in Crash

A 27-year-old Woodstock man, Baldwin Scogna, was taken to Kingston Hospital early this morning following an accident on Wittenberg Road in the Town of Woodstock. State Police reported the car operated by Scogna failed to make a curve on the highway at 12:55 a. m. today and overturned as the operator drove north. Scogna received lacerations of the face and nose. A passenger in the car was not injured. Scogna was issued a summons charging failure to keep right.

House Schedules Long Debate on Multiyear Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — A multiyear foreign aid program, the first in history, comes before the House today. Debate is certain to focus on the administration's foreign policy, including conduct of the Viet Nam war.

House leaders scheduled five hours of debate. A final vote was not expected today.

Compromise Version

In the past, Congress has authorized continuance of the foreign aid program for one year at a time. But the House bill contains a two-year authorization in all but two sections. Five-year authorizations would be allowed the Alliance for Progress program and economic development loans.

As approved by the committee, the measure authorizes $4.1 billion in spending for each of the two years. The administration, however, has placed a $3.3-billion price tag on the annual aid program.

The House version is a compromise with the administration. President Johnson advocated a five-year program with economic and military aid separated.

The bill lumps military and economic assistance into a single package but contains the multiyear authorization.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee made no substantial cuts in administration requests, arriving at the $4.1-billion figure by putting specific dollar figures on items for which unspecified amounts had been sought.

No Viet Funds

The bill does not contain funds for the Viet Nam war.

In reporting out the bill, the House Foreign Affairs Committee took an indirect swipe at the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"The committee has avoided cutting the authorization of funds or imposing comprehensive restrictions as an expression of general dissatisfaction with the world situation or the conduct of our foreign policy," it said.

The Senate committee has made substantial cuts in the administration's aid requests and its chairman, Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has been a leading critic of the President's Viet Nam policy.

The majority House committee report noted that much of the criticism of foreign aid "reflects dissatisfaction with the world situation or with aspects of U.S. foreign policy."

"Most of the problems that confront the United States in various parts of the world exist because of the initiative or the shortcomings of governments other than our own," it said. "The fact we are confronted by many of these problems should not be attributed to our foreign policy."

Some Republican committee members filed a blistering minority report, terming the foreign aid program a failure.

Accord

ACCORD — Rondout Valley High School National Science Club recently completed a 650 mile trip into the central New Hampshire and Vermont regions on a mineral and rock hunting expedition. In addition to camping students had an opportunity to collect mineral specimens at Globe Mine, an open pit and Ruggles Mine, a tunnel mine, both in New Hampshire. Samples of garnet, tourmaline, rose quartz, feldspar, beryl were among the prize items. From the biology department, Mr. Swenson was able to bring home a complete skeleton of a deer that had drowned in one of the mountain lakes. Those hunting treasure were Beatrice Cole of Pataunkunk, Mrs. Roy Conklin of Kerhonkson, Eugene Melenczuk of Chertown, Wiwal Ryback of Stone Ridge, Tom Crepet of High Falls, Glen Van Gorden of Kripplishush and Ralph Swenson Sr. of Accord.

A card party will be held at the Metacahonts Hall Thursday, July 14 by the Willing Workers. There will be the usual refreshments and awards.

The Accord Home Extension Service closed its season with a dinner at Hickory Manor, New Paltz.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Freedman have had their daughter, Thelma of New York, home for the holiday weekend, and their son, Joseph returned for the summer semester at Harper College, Binghamton, after a week with his parents.

Reflect on Greek Crisis Last Year With Young King

By PHILIP DOPOULOS

ATHENS (AP) — Last July 1 Greece's 25-year-old King Constantine rejected 77-year-old Premier George Papandreu's demand for control of the armed forces and forced him to resign.

Greece's worst crisis since the Communist civil war of 1947-49 followed, and for months the existence of the monarchy appeared threatened again.

Appealed to Crowds

Papandreu's appeals brought rioting crowds into the streets of Athens and other major cities. Communists and other leftist agitators took control of the crowds. A student was killed and hundreds were injured.

Papandreu, who controlled 170 of the 300 seats in Parliament, challenged the young king repeatedly with the words: "The people rule, the king reigns." He demanded immediate elections, asserting, "The people's will has been violated."

A year after the showdown the young king's crown is secure while Papandreu wanders in a lonely political wilderness, his Center Union party shrinking and his magic apparently gone.

The balance keeping Premier Stephanos Stephanopoulos and his coalition government in power is precarious. Fearful of a real test, the premier has presented no major legislation since winning a paper-thin majority in Parliament on his first confidence vote Sept. 24.

Balanced Act

But Stephanopoulos has performed a balancing act that has staved off further political upsets, and his support appears to be growing. Talk of the early elections sought by Papandreu has died down. The king and the premier may be able to hold things together until the next scheduled elections, in 1968.

The Center Union, a loose association of leftist and rightist political parties which had banded together in 1964, began

Black and White Show

The sixteenth annual Black and White Show sponsored by the USO Club will be held Saturday, July 23, at the Middletown Fair Grounds at 9:30 a. m. Acting as judge will be Richard Keene of Gilbertsville. The following trophies are being awarded this year: Grand Champion Male, Junior Champion Female, Grand Champion Female, Reserve Champion Female, Uddered Cow, and Premier Breeder. A special award will be made to the top animal shown by a junior member. Selections will be made for a club herd to be shown at the New York State Exposition.

House Votes Today On Pay Hike Bill For Servicemen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House votes today on a compromise bill which would authorize $17.4 billion for military spending and grant a 3.2 per cent pay increase to uniformed servicemen. Prompt passage is predicted.

The compromise military procurement bill agreed to by Senate and House conferees is $53.9 million more than asked for by the administration.

And it contains a number of controversial items Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara did not seek.

development of the Nike X anti-missile missile and an extra $11.8 million to speed up work on a new manned bomber.

The military pay raise is estimated to cost $350 million its first year. It is due to be funded in a separate bill.

Fish Vows Hard Campaign, Out To Cement Unity

POUGHKEEPSIE — Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican candidate for Congress promised a fighting campaign against the Democratic incumbent right down to Election Day, Nov. 8.

The 39-year-old Poughkeepsie attorney who has just successfully completed a six month campaign for the Republican Congressional nomination, made the pledge as he left on a brief vacation with his family.

Following the June 28 Primary and prior to leaving on a 10 day rest, Fish attended a four day Republican Candidate Conference in Washington, and then met with Party leaders in Green, Ulster, Schoharie and Columbia Counties.

"I have been deeply gratified by the strong backing for my candidacy I have received in all the counties of the District," Fish said. "Certainly I shall do everything in my power to insure complete Party unity for the November Election."

Fish said that before leaving for a brief rest, he had answered Congressman Resnick's debate request.

"Immediately following the election I spent four days in Washington at a Candidate Conference sponsored by the Republican National Committee. When I returned to my office the hundreds of congratulatory notes and telegrams had to be answered, as well as thank you letters to all those who worked for me, before I got around to answering the Democratic incumbent."

"I have notified Congressman Resnick that I shall be happy to meet with him when I return from vacation and work out details for any debates," Fish said.

According to Fish he has been puzzled by Resnick's attitude. "The announcement of his letter to me hit 24 hours before his letter reached me. The text appeared in the newspapers at the same time the papers were carrying the fact that I had just won the Primary. Within the week there was another story that I had not yet answered his letter."

"As an experienced campaigner I am sure Mr. Resnick understands the hundreds of details to be handled following an election. I can only assure him we will get around to him in good time, and I shall be looking forward to arranging debate details within the next two weeks," Fish concluded.

The following is a copy of the letter sent to Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick:

Dear Joe:

Thank you for your letter of June 28th. I appreciate your good wishes. Sorry not to have answered sooner, but the four day candidates' conference in Washington, plus the holiday prevented an earlier reply to your letter. I was pleased to note your feeling that the coming campaign should be waged strictly on the issues. I can assure you that I for one intend to do just that.

I quite agree with you that many issues should come under full discussion to fully illustrate to the voters of this district the broad differences between your philosophy and mine.

Following the long primary campaign, I am taking my family on a brief vacation. When I return in two weeks I shall be available to talk with you at any time concerning the proposed debate.

Very truly yours,
HAMILTON FISH JR.

Time Has Come For Cleansing U. S. Rivers, Lakes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall said today the time has come to begin the systematic cleansing of the rivers and lakes of America.

Testifying before the House Public Works Committee, Udall supported both an administration bill for a "clean rivers" approach to water pollution and a bill by Rep. John A. Blatnik, D-Minn., to step up the present pollution control program.

Udall recommended that the appropriate features of both bills be blended into one.

Udall said the "clean rivers" program was recommended by President Johnson last February and is designed to carry out a river basin approach to controlling pollution.

"Let me emphasize," Udall said, "that when we refer to 'clean rivers' we mean a hydrologic unit, that is, a river basin or a total watershed or a lake or some of our coastal areas."

Congress has authorized $150 million a year for construction grants to aid in pollution control.

Blatnik, who presided, said in an opening statement that his bill would increase incentive grants for assisting municipalities in building water treatment plants to a billion dollars a year for each of the next six years.

Rep. Frank Horton, R-N.Y., supported two bills he has introduced. One would provide for a study by the Army Engineers of the Great Lakes area at a cost of $1.8 million. The other would increase the construction grants to $300 million a year.

Horton said he feels the Great Lakes, especially Lake Erie and Lake Ontario, are among the most seriously threatened of all waterways in the nation.

Fear That Flame

When camping or hiking this summer, be extra careful with fire. Don't smoke when on the trails; never leave a cigarette smoldering. Remember, a forest that has been growing for generations can be destroyed in mere minutes.

Local ARC Marks 50th Anniversary Of Family Help

Together with other American Red Cross Chapters throughout the U. S. the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross is observing the 50th anniversary of the beginning of their Services to Military Families which began when American troops were sent to protect the Mexican border.

While this service, originally called Home Service, was not formally established by the American Red Cross Central Committee until more than a year later (Aug. 31, 1917), it was well underway by that time.

On June 22, 1916, the late Ernest Bicknell, director general of the ARC Civilian Relief, urged chapters to organize committees for military and civilian relief and to "raise and administer funds locally" in order to participate in the care of families of soldiers and sailors.

At the outset, 360 chapters organized Home Service sections. Service to Military Families, which became the new name of the service in 1964, is a major activity in all of the 3,400 Red Cross chapters. During World War I, the ARC became the nation's largest social welfare agency. Making this possible was the partnership of 50,000 volunteers and a small career staff that has distinguished the Home Service and later SMFF throughout the half century.

Although the SMF golden anniversary will be observed by the ARC throughout 1967, the observance actually began at the national convention of the Red Cross in San Diego, Calif. last month, when the Tucson, Ariz. Chapter staged a colorful narration entitled, "From Villa to Viet Nam," which traced the development of Home Service in Tucson from the time when General Pershing was ordered to a Mexican border to the present, when U.S. troops are fighting Communist aggression in Viet Nam.

During the past year several volunteers with Mrs. Donald Snell of Kingston as chairman have aided the career staff of the Ulster County Chapter in carrying out the program. They were Mrs. Bernard Feeney Jr., Mrs. Albert Kurtz, Mrs. Robert Kurland, Mrs. Robert Schellenberger, Mrs. Louis Smith, and Mrs. James Taub, all of Kingston; Mrs. Alan McCorkle, Stone Ridge; and Mrs. Henry Mayer, Lake Katrine.

The Ulster County Chapter is a member of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Children Die in Car

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Three young children died in an oven-hot parked car while their mother was making a $10 a pint blood donation at a medical supply house.

Geraldine Luke found her children's bodies when she returned to the car. The lab had been unexpectedly busy Monday and she had to wait for more than two hours, police said.

Cites Programs Of EOA Brought To Valley Area

Mrs. Ersia H. Poston, director of the New York State Office of Economic Opportunity, in a statement today said that the federal fiscal year having come to a close has brought many programs under the Economic Opportunity Act into operation in the eight-county Mid-Hudson area.

Bernhardt S. Kramer is the field representative for the New York State Office of Economic Opportunity in this area, which encompasses Ulster, Greene, Schoharie, Delaware, Sullivan, Columbia, Dutchess and Putnam Counties.

Over $1 Million

The amount of funds awarded various programs that have been carried out in this district will total more than $1 million with programs now in the development stage funding will be well over a million dollars in fiscal 1966-67 involving the eight-county area.

The Boards of Supervisors in all eight counties have passed resolutions approving and sponsoring community action committees, in most instances corporate and independent acting agencies. Program Development grants have been approved and funds appropriated in Schoharie, Delaware, Sullivan, Ulster, and Dutchess.

The most popular, and at this time the program which has been able to be evaluated to some degree is the summer Head Start program. Some of the school districts in the area are in their second summer of Head Start including Kingston Schools Consolidated, Marlboro Central Schools, Ellenville Central Schools, Poughkeepsie, and Hyde Park. The success of these programs has been attested to by those who have been involved and have had an opportunity to evaluate.

Receives Grant

The Southern Ulster Migrant Assistance Committee has received a grant for the seasonal farm labor which involves the towns of Plattekill, Marlboro, Lloyd, and New Paltz.

The same area has been served by VISTA personnel during the past year. The Work Study program has been implemented in most of the area's institutions of higher learning and the Neighborhood Youth Corps is functioning in Dutchess, Delaware, and Schoharie Counties, with a program anticipated for fall in Sullivan County. Special funded programs have included Upward Bound at high schools, college in Poughkeepsie, and Medicare Alert which gave employment to senior citizens in Sullivan County. Dutchess and Sullivan Counties have been funded for several active programs.

Historical Group Hears CD Report From Area Leader

Charles Arnold, deputy director of Civil Defense, was the guest speaker at the July 9 meeting of the Ulster County Historical Society. The subject was What Civil Defense Means.

A native of Brookline, Mass., Arnold has been a resident of Ulster County about 40 years. He fought in the first World War and later commanded a Company of the 56th Regiment, New York Guard so has brought a military background to his ten years' work in Civil Defense here. He is also a trustee of the Kingston Savings Bank and chairman of the board of trustees of the First Baptist Church of Kingston.

Of great importance, Arnold said, in the Civil Defense Organization is intensive training service. There are now 1,000 trained people in the county. Their medical department, starting with cooperation with Red Cross goes on to hospital emergency management and has conducted tests with the Kingston and Benedictine Hospitals. Their radiological department plots the fallout and receives information from national booklets. There are now 300 people throughout the county in 54 stations who are trained for this work. Surveys have been made to find places which qualify as shelters and are heated and lighted and stocked with minimum supplies.

Civil Defense is primarily concerned with meeting attacks and operates under the Defense Department, the speaker pointed out, and frequent alerts are given in all departments. There are cooperative with Red Cross in disaster work. "We have to live with nuclear weapons and there is always the possibility that someone might drop a bomb," the speaker concluded.

Currently showing at the Society Headquarters are a number of pieces of Stone Ware and Rockingham glaze pottery from the outstanding collection of the president, John P. Remensnyder. The collection, by Remensnyder, photographs, titled "The Pottery of Poughkeepsie" appears in the July number of Antiques magazine. TODAY'S THOUGHT
By JIM GILPATRICK

Last week, we defined our idea of success. We stated a successful person is one who possesses a good reputation, and this includes a reputation for doing the best you can with whatever ability, talent or skill you have. We asked this question, but purposely left it unanswered at the time: "What's the secret of success?"

We like Disraeli's answer: "The secret of success is constancy to purpose." Constancy to the purpose of attaining and maintaining a good reputation in any endeavor requires certain things. It requires constancy in a personal dedication to a spirit of service . . . constancy in prudent policies . . . constancy in skill. Constancy in success come only in proportion to the effort and efficiency with which these requirements are developed. And incidentally, a good way to judge success is to take a good look at the people who associate with or have been served by the person or firm being judged.

This concept of constancy, as we see it, is the only answer to the secret of success. It holds true for everyone, in every field (including funeral directors).

Employment at Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — A record number of 75.7 million Americans were employed in June, although the U. S. unemployment rate remained unchanged at 4 per cent.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said Monday the number of employed last month included two million teen-agers, most of them just out of school.

At the same time, however, unemployment among adult men rose about 100,000 after remaining steady in April and May. The bureau said this was an indication that the rate of economic growth has been slowing up.

Ease Restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has eased its restrictions on travel to the Communist countries of China, North Viet Nam, North Korea, Albania and Cuba.

The department said Monday travel to those countries will be permitted for cultural, athletic, commercial, educational and public affairs purposes. It also said it would permit trips by professionals in other fields if the applicants for visas demonstrated their visits would benefit the United States.

When it first liberalized travel restrictions to Communist countries last December and again in February, the department said applications would be considered in the national interest if the applicant is a doctor or scientist in the field of medicine or public health, or a scholar with a post-graduate degree whose trip would be for further information in the field of research for public information and knowledge.

The department now bars general travel to Red China, North Korea, North Viet Nam, Albania and Cuba.

May Accept Invitation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says he believes a Senate delegation will accept an invitation from Cambodia's National Assembly to visit that Far Eastern country this fall.

The Senate was invited to send three members on a fact-finding trip to Cambodia, which has been accused of serving as a refuge for North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops.

Although Cambodia broke relations with the United States after leaning toward Peking's orbit, the U. S. administration reportedly is encouraging the congressional visit.

Capital Footnotes

The Senate has passed and sent to the House a bill to create a commission to determine the best means of combating traffic in pornography and other obscene material. The Bureau of Labor Statistics says there were 2.9 million man-days of strike-caused idleness during May, the highest number for that month since 1959. A cast has been placed on the left ankle of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who suffered a bone chip July 3 while playing tennis.

Religious services were conducted Sunday evening at the Home For the Aged by Kingston Kiwanis Club. John McCullough sang a solo and the Benediction, accompanied by Fred DuBois. There was a tape recorded sermon by the Rev. Dr. Vincent Norman Peale. Hubert Hoderath, chairman of the Support of Churches and Synagogues committee, made arrangements for the service.

Va. Dems Pick Byrd on Line

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia Democrats name their nominees for both U. S. Senate seats today in a primary election that will provide a new assessment of whether the Byrd organization's traditional conservatism still appeals to the voters.

500,000 May Vote

A half million or more voters are expected to take part in the election that could sharply alter the Virginia image on Capitol Hill. The polls open at 6 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

Besides the twin-bill Senate primary in which Sens. Harry F. Byrd Jr. and A. Willis Robertson have been pressed by challengers, from the moderate-liberal wing of the party, a mainstay of the old-line conservatives is involved in a fight for his seat in the House.

Rep. Howard Smith, 83, who seldom faced more than token opposition in 36 years of representing the 8th District, was forced into an active campaign by the race of his opponent, George C. Rawlings Jr., 44, a delegate in the Virginia House.

The outcome of today's voting could mean a reaffirmation of the conservative outlook, gauged by financial stability, state rights and a dim view of much of the domestic program of the national Democratic administration. Or, it could portend a more moderate approach to federal-state relations.

Four Sniff Victory

All four of the Senate candidates professed to sniff victory in election eve assessments.

Seeking to unseat senior Sen. A. Willis Robertson, 79, a 20-year Senate veteran who heads the Banking and Currency Committee, is State Sen. William B. Spong Jr., 45, a Portsmouth attorney. Robertson, the Senate's 11th ranking member, is seeking a fourth full six-year term.

Byrd, 51, given an interim appointment last year when his ailing father, Sen. Harry F. Byrd Sr., resigned, is opposed by Armistead L. Boothe, 58, an Alexandria attorney who served with Byrd in the State Senate.

Cut Short Campaign

The Boothe-Byrd campaigning was cut short by the contenders because of the worsening of the condition of Byrd's father, now in a coma at his Berryville home. Byrd halted active campaigning last Thursday and Boothe followed suit a day later.

The main weight of the old Byrd organization forces went for Byrd and Robertson, with the exception of former Gov. John S. Battle, whose son, William C., managed Spong's campaign.

The elder Battle endorsed Spong and later told a reporter he would vote for Byrd, too, because of his long friendship with the senior Byrd and his belief that "young Harry" had the qualifications for the Senate.

Probe Damage To Creek Locks Area Premises

Damage estimated to exceed $500 was done to a house owned by Arnold S. Rymkevitch off Route 32 in the Creek Locks area. The damage was discovered Monday and reported to the sheriff's office.

An investigation by Deputy Sheriff Robert Jordan showed entrance to the premises had been gained by breaking open a rear door which was removed from the hinges. Paneling in the kitchen was removed from the walls, copper tubing in the bathroom was ripped out and taken away, beds were stolen from the upper floor, a number of windows were broken and the nails driven into it.

The premises were being remodeled and were unoccupied. The entrance was reported at 12:35 p. m. Monday. The investigation is being continued by Ulster County Investigator Thomas Mayone.

Dear Abby . . .

Psychiatrist—Only Answer for Child

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 13, and everyone who meets her tells us how lucky we are to have such a sweet, well-mannered, intelligent child. The truth is, she's deceitful, cruel, and a real problem. We can't even keep a pet for fear she'll torture it to death. (She's already done away with a kitten and a full-grown poodle.) She cannot be trusted and is such a clever little liar she worries us.

Outside the home she puts on a goody-goody act that could fool anybody. Her ambition is to be an actress, and she would make a good one. How can we straighten her out? She's not dumb. In fact, she's too smart for her own good. Don't suggest a psychiatrist. She could turn on the charm and have him eating out of her hand in no time.

"SARAH BERNHARDT'S" MOTHER. DEAR MOTHER: A psychiatrist is exactly what she needs. And don't worry about his eating out of her hand. More than likely it will be the other way around. And more important, he'll be able to tell you whether she is just "going thru a stage" or is ON one.

DEAR ABBY: A woman I see quite often but do not know very well came right out and asked me if I had ever had my face lifted. I never have and that's what I told her, but I could tell by the way she looked at me that she didn't quite believe me.

Later I heard that she asked a friend of mine the same question about me. What would you make of such a person?

INSULTED

DEAR INSULTED: A stranger.

DEAR ABBY: My 10-year-old son is a Little League. The position he holds is "bench-warmer." He and several other boys attend practice every night. Last night he announced that he didn't want to go to any more games, because it was boring just sitting in the dugout. But he wanted to continue going to practice because at least everybody got to play then.

Now I know this isn't an earth-shaking problem, but it seems to me the managers and coaches place too much emphasis on winning. I think it is only fair that each boy gets a chance to play, no matter how poor he is. It would be interesting to hear from some of the managers and coaches out there.

BENCH-WARMER'S MOM

DEAR ABBY: I chuckled when I read the letter from the "Hurt Grandmother," who had bought so many lovely little dresses for her granddaughters, but saw them only in mismatched jeans and blouses. I was reminded of a trick I once played on my mother, who also used to buy my daughters gorgeous dresses on every occasion.

When I knew mother was coming, I quickly washed two of the lovely fancy dresses she had given my girls. As usual, mother asked if she could "do anything" while I prepared dinner. I told her she could iron the two dresses. Abby, it took her exactly one hour and five minutes to iron those two dresses! Not one word was spoken, but after that she bought the girls darling little slack outfits. Of the drip-dry variety.

Evens Up Score

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — President Mohamed Ayub Khan, who ousted his pro-Peking foreign minister last month, announced today he is dropping his Western-oriented finance minister.

The brief announcement said Finance Minister Mohammed Sholab "will be relinquishing his Cabinet post Aug. 25 to join the World Bank as an adviser."

Ayub announced last month that Foreign Minister Z. A. Bhutto was giving up his post because of his health.

There was speculation that the president dropped the two ministers to avoid the appearance of being too closely committed to either the United States or Red China.

Quits Ordinary Life

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A 19-year-old youth who said "unless I did something out of the ordinary I would remain a nobody all my life" was ordered today to stand trial for the shooting of Labor Party Leader Arthur A. Calwell.

Detective Brian Ballard told the court the youth, Peter Raymond Kogan, told him: "I did not agree with Mr. Calwell's politics, and that made it easy to shoot him."

Calwell was shot at while sitting in his car several weeks ago after addressing an election rally on the outskirts of Sydney.

It was believed at the time that Calwell, who received superficial injuries on the face, had been cut by flying glass. He testified today that a doctor had removed a bullet fragment from his chin.

Wants to See Flipper

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — More than anything in the world, Cathy Wainwright, 7, wanted to see Flipper the television porpoise.

She got her wish Monday. Flipper performed just for Cathy in Miami, where the television series is filmed.

Cathy and her family drove all the way from Penderlee, N.C., to see Flipper. It cost $600, raised by their neighbors.

Cathy's right arm was amputated last month because of cancer. Doctors said she would live less than a year unless the arm was amputated right away.

But "after the operation the doctors told us not to get our hopes too high," said Dennis Wainwright, 26, Cathy's father. "The operation may have been too late."

"We didn't know what to say or do. I asked Cathy what she wanted more than anything else in the world. She said she wanted to see Flipper."

Senate Okays Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed and returned to the House a federal pay raise bill that would affect about 1.8 million government employees and cost about $551.8 million a year.

The House earlier passed a different version, although both bills would be effective July 1. President Johnson had recommended a less costly increase effective next January.

The Senate bill, passed Monday by an 81-0 roll-call vote, would provide a 2.9 per cent pay boost and increase fringe benefits by perhaps another four-tenths of 1 per cent.

Infiltration Not Halted by Oil Bombings: Mac

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says air strikes against North Vietnamese oil storage depots have had no noticeable effect thus far on Communist infiltration into the South.

And he warned the Communists that stepped-up infiltration could bring an increase in U. S. air raids.

At a news conference Monday, McNamara said it is too early to determine if U. S. bombings of oil storage facilities near Hanoi and Haiphong have reduced the movement of men and equipment into South Viet Nam.

"We have not been able to notice any effect on movement so far," he added. On June 29, the day of the initial strikes against the depots, McNamara had said "there is no question but what these attacks will make it far more difficult and far more costly for the North to continue the infiltration."

In answer to a question Monday, the secretary said "I don't believe we have approached a limit to the use of airpower over North Viet Nam. As they increase the movement or as they attempt to increase the movement of men and materiel it may be necessary for us to further increase our air effort there."

McNamara said, without mentioning a specific figure, that he expects an increase on the 280,000-man U. S. force in Viet Nam before the end of the year.

Must Be Immunized

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A child enrolling in any Michigan school for the first time after Jan. 1 will have to show proof that he has been immunized against measles.

Gov. George Romney announced Monday that he has signed a bill adding measles to the list of immunizations required by the state school code, which include smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and others.

Postwar Babies Too Fat, Trainer Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The postwar babies have grown into a flabby generation of Americans, puffed by the easy life, and stopped by lengthy television vigils.

That's the opinion of athletic trainers George Sullivan of the University of Nebraska and William Newell of Purdue University, at the 43rd annual American Physical Therapy Association meeting here.

"They're too fat," Sullivan said Monday of Americans born in 1945, 1946 and 1947.

"Youngsters use power mowers to mow the lawn, ride bicycles almost as soon as they've learned to walk, and then, of course, graduate to cars and motor bikes," Newell said.

Both men said television was the single largest factor in bad posture, called "TV slump." "They get round shoulders and curvature of the spine from 'They get round shoulders and curvature of the spine from AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — The Casco Bay island which was the summer home of the late Adm. Robert E. Peary, famed Arctic explorer, has been accepted by the state from his daughter.

Gov. John H. Reed and the executive council authorized the State Park & Recreation Commission to accept Eagle Island in Harpswell.

Lawrence Stuart, commission director, said the offer was made by Marie Peary Stafford in memory of her parents. He said Mrs. Stafford and her brother, Robert E. Peary Jr., plan to place on public display many of Peary's belongings and mementos.

HOSTESSES FOR WALKING TOUR — Taking note of the marker which identifies the former site of the N. E. bastion and blockhouse of Kingston's old stockade are: (l-r) Mrs. Samuel McCoubrey, Mrs. Herbert Reuner and Mrs. Henry F. Millonig. They are members of the YWCA volunteers who have assisted as hostesses for private home owners whose dwellings have been opened for groups taking Kingston's guided walking tour. Also serving this year are Miss Olive Marsh, Miss Ethel Montgomery and Mrs. Donald Snell. The tour is scheduled for Thursday, July 21 at 2 p. m. and will begin at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The tour route follows the streets that now represent the former boundary of the stockade built in 1658. Kingston's first "relocation" problem occurred when the early settlers were forced by the government (under Peter Stuyvesant) to move into homes within the stockade for protection from the Indians. The area is bounded by Main, Green, North Front Streets and Clinton Avenue. The tour includes visits to interiors of several buildings within this boundary. (Freeman photo by John Kruh)

Pete Seeger Returns To Berkshire Barn For July 16 Concert

LENOX — Pete Seeger, who bills himself as a "banjo picker," but who is considered the patron saint of folk singers, returns to the Berkshire Music Barn for a 3 p. m. concert Saturday, July 16. Sharing the stage with Seeger will be Len Chandler, who holds a master's degree in music from Columbia University and who has been making a name for himself as a folk poet and singer of late.

Sunday evening at 8:30, the Music Barn will present the first of three special concerts at the Pittsfield Boys' Club auditorium, featuring the Lovin' Spoonful, currently one of the top folk-rock groups.

Seeger, who was a member of the famous Class of 1940 at Harvard which numbered the late President John F. Kennedy among its graduates, was first introduced to folk music in 1935 and began appearing professionally with such masters as Woody Guthrie, Leadbelly, Josh White and Burl Ives in 1940. He was a member of The Weavers during the 1950's and has since been giving concerts all over the world as a solo. He has made over 50 record albums and is known as a composer and author.

The Lovin' Spoonful — John Sebastian, guitar, harmonica and autoharp; Zal Yanovsky, lead guitar; Steve Boone electric bass; and Joe Butler, drums — are all in their early 20's. They started out in Greenwich Village and within the past year have become one of the more popular groups among the young modern set. Their album "Daydream" is a current bestseller.

Dream Comes True With Gala Opening Of Amphitheatre

By EARL ARONSON
Associated Press Writer

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP) — A Midsummer Night's Dream was a dream come true in a new $4 million amphitheater on a balmy summer evening.

The New York City Ballet danced through "A Midsummer Night's Dream," based on the play by William Shakespeare, Friday night, climaxing a four-year effort to build the Saratoga Performing Arts Center.

A benefit performance crowd of about 4,500, many formally attired, frequently demonstrated its appreciation and pleasure with applause. Proceeds from tickets that cost from $7.50 to $15 benefitted the center's education fund.

The audience included many socially prominent persons, some of whom spend their summers in this resort, noted for decades for its mineral springs and horse racing.

The center officially will open tonight. There are seats under cover of the huge concrete, steel and wood structure for 5,100 persons. Gently sloping lawns of the state-owned Saratoga Springs Reservation will accommodate an additional 7,000 persons within viewing and hearing distance.

The City ballet will perform nightly, except Mondays, through July, when the Philadelphia Orchestra, under Eugene Ormandy, will take over until Aug. 24.

At times, there was applause lasting more than a minute for some of the leading dancers in the ballet — Edward Villella as the King of the Fairies, Suzanne Farrell as Titania, Queen of the Fairies, and Arthur Mitchell as Puck.

The music for the delightful ballet was written by Felix Mendelssohn. A Midsummer Night's Dream is a fantasy comedy involving love potions, quarrels and pursuits in a forest.

The muted sounds of a nearby waterfall accompanied the dancers and orchestra.

One of those in the audience was Samuel LeFrak of New York City, head of a construction company. LeFrak said he believed the new amphitheater was "probably the finest of its kind in the world."

"It is an architectural gem," said LeFrak, who owns the race horse Flame Tree. "The acoustics are nearly perfect."

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt said the ballet "was superb, in one of the most beautiful settings in the east."

"It is a tribute to those who brought it into being and it will mean a tremendous improvement in the cultural and economic climate in the area," he said.

Robert Krieger, drama critic for the Albany Knickerbocker News, said the ballet company performed brilliantly.

The ballet first was performed Thursday night for the 300 men who built the center and their families.

"It was a fantastic sight to see these workers stand and shout bravo," said Krieger.

Others attending the Friday performance included Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney; John MacFayden, past president of the New York State Council on the Arts; Mrs. Ogden Phipps, Philadelphia socialite; Mrs. Vladimir Horowitz, wife of the famed concert pianist; and John Gates, vice president of Steuben Glass, and Mrs. Gates.

Gene Robb, president of the Center and publisher of the Albany Times-Union and Knickerbocker News, said:

"The realization of this 'Midsummer Night's Dream' that began in 1962 is a milestone of which all those who lent their support and gave of their time and interest can be proud."

Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson will represent the state at tonight's

He will take the part of Bill Maitland, a middle-aged, sex obsessed lawyer who after two days of self discovery realizes that his life is a complete waste. A dream sequence where Maitland tries to justify his tawdry life captures the audience at the beginning and holds them until Maitland destroys himself at the end.

Boy Scout Activities At Camp Tri-Mount

The summer camping season at Camp Tri-Mount Scout Reservation in East Jewett officially opened. Owned and operated by the Rip Van Winkle Boy Scouts of America, the camp is situated in one of the most scenic areas of the Catskill Mountain Region.

During the previous week, affectionately known to the counselors as "Staff Week," the camp was made ready for the Webelos-Dad weekend and final touches applied in preparation for the 138 Scout turnout on Sunday. Work done in preparation for the opening of the season was accomplished by the camp staff with considerable help from the Half Moon Lodge, Order of the Arrow, and the many Scouter volunteers who devote many hours to the improvements of the camp facilities.

During this first week of the camp season many troops from the Ulster-Greene County Area have participated in the programs planned by their own adult leadership.

Troop 14 of Lake Katrine participated under the leadership of Scoutmaster Martin Peterson with assistance from Albert Bruno and the Rev. James J. LeBar.

Marbletown's Troop 16, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Norman Wilson assisted by Oscar Johnson, Richard Davenport, and James Feth had a full week of Scouting adventure, completing the week with one of the finest advancement records for one troop in the Camp's history.

Troops 20 from Hurley under the leadership of Scoutmaster Robert Lawton participated in a rain-drenched hiking program and also had a fine record of advancement.

Troop 45 from Coxsackie under the leadership of Scoutmaster Glen Mason with assistance from William Matson, Anthony Appa, Harry Case, Henry Schmitt, and Michael Blacato advanced up the Scouting ladder with a program of Basic Scouting skills and merit badges.

The Provisional Troop under the leadership of Michael Angstrom of the Camp Tri-Mount

Staff was made up of Scouts from Troops throughout the area: Troop 10-Kingston, Troop 28-Elenville, Troop 34-Woodstock, Troop 31-Centerville, Troop 138-Mount Marion, and Troop 171-Clintondale.

One of the major areas of the camp program is Field Sports. Under the supervision of Henry Boucher, range officer, the area includes a 50 foot NRA rifle range, a target archery range, and an excellent field archery course. On the rifle range instruction is carried out in rifle safety, shotgun safety, and marksmanship.

Scouts earn NRA ratings as they increase their proficiency with firearms. Moskeet (marksmanship) practiced with .22 caliber shotguns and clay pigeons is also offered as a part of the range program.

Archery Director Bruce Safford, was instrumental in setting up for the first time at Camp Tri-Mount a field archery course. This course, consisting of a series of targets simulating hunting situations, is an invaluable aid in the instruction of safety and proper hunting techniques. Target archery, for the building of skill and accuracy with the bow, is still a main part of the archery program.

Many improvements have been carried out in the field sports area in order to provide a better program for campers whose numbers are increasing yearly. A new backdrop of sandbags has replaced the railroad ties of previous years. The new field archery course was completed before camp opened.

A fitting closing for the first week at camp was the Sunday morning religious services. Catholic Mass being offered by Father LeBar of Lake Katrine and Protestant services under the direction of Rev. Merton Cady of Hensonsville.

In addition to the services on Sunday, the camp provides a week-long chaplain service under the direction of the Rev. George Wood of Flatbush, Camp Chaplain.

At the closing retreat, held at noon on Sunday, the "Honor Patrol" neckerchief slides were presented to the Pack Rat Patrol of Troop 16, Marbletown, whose members are: Jeff Ryder, Patrol Leader; Joseph Clarke, Ronald Hall, Eugene Terwilliger, William Johnson, John Johnson, Alan Elston and David Conard.

The Honor Patrol is awarded each week to the Patrol which scores the highest in the inter-Patrol contest which goes on all week.

Doing The Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

MAY EARLY-RISE GUEST PREPARE OWN BREAKFAST?

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm a bachelor and am often invited to the houses of my married friends for weekends. I'm an early riser but most of my friends rarely get up before 11. Would it be all right for me to go out into the kitchen and get my own breakfast?

Dear Jeff: Yes. It would be a thoughtless hostess who expected you to starve until the others were ready for breakfast.

Obnoxious Guest

Dear Mrs. Post: What can a hostess do when one of her guests gets "tight" and becomes boisterous and unpleasant? I had this happen at a party at my house the other evening. My husband tried several times to get this person to quiet down, but it was useless and he spoiled the evening for everyone. I'm sure other hostesses have been faced with this problem at one time or another and I wish you'd tell us how to handle it.

Mrs. Roberts

Dear Mrs. Roberts: Your husband made a good start in trying to get this man to quiet down but he didn't go far enough. When a person has become so obnoxious that he is ruining the evening for your other guests, it is essential, and right, that you should insist that he leave. Your husband should call a cab, and if necessary, enlist the aid of one or two of the other men, to send him on his way. Explanations can be made to the bad actor later, but it is most important that you save the evening for your other guests.

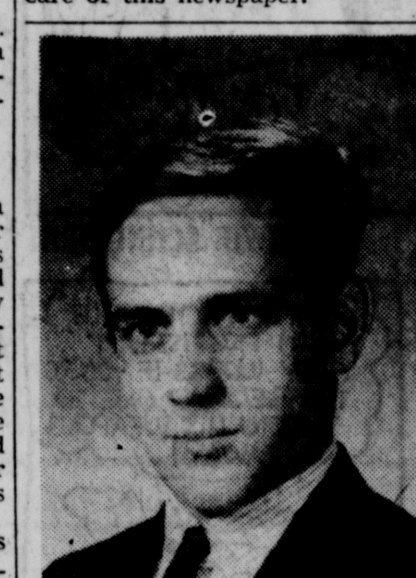

Beverages Paid for by Bride

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if I am correct in believing that the bridegroom pays for the liquor served at his wedding? We do not approve of liquor in any form but my son's fiancée's family are going all out for an expensive wedding and we do not want to refuse to do our part in paying the wedding expense.

Dear Mrs. Harris: Happily, you have no problem. All of the expenses of the wedding reception should be paid by the bride's family—not by you or your son. If you choose to give a dinner the night before the wedding, you may serve liquor or not, just as you wish.

The correct marking of linens and the amounts a bride-to-be will need in furnishing her future house, are included in the booklet, "The Bride's Trouseau." For a copy, send a dime and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper.

Happiness is the art of never holding in your mind the memory of any unpleasant thing that has passed.

Opportunity will look for you if you prove you are worth finding.

Knowledge that comes too late is more disturbing than beneficial.

Echoes Lindsay Plea Thinks Dice Are Loaded Against Review Board

By ANTHONY DE NIGRO
NEW YORK (AP) — Algernon David Black believes the dice are loaded against New York City's new civilian police review board.

But the balding, pipe-smoking ethical culturist picked Monday to head the police brutality complaints board, says he doesn't want to become embroiled in the political controversy surrounding the board.

"We could get all wound up in that and never get to the job itself," he says.

Riddled With 'Ifs'

The job, as he sees it, is not insurmountable but riddled with "ifs," all connected in some way with how the board is accepted by the city's minority groups, the general public and the men in blue.

"I just wish that the people would keep an open mind and give us a chance to help the city," he said Monday in his fifth-floor office in the New York Society for Ethical Culture Building.

Black is senior leader of the society, the founding stone of the liberal religious movement that started in 1876 and has spread to 27 countries.

He joined the society staff in 1923, was elected leader 11 years later and has become one of its foremost spokesmen.

Living up to the movement's creed of helping one's self by helping others, he has become a leader in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing and the American Civil Liberties Union.

Black, now 65, believes big cities across the country will be closely watching the outcome of the controversial review board.
"I think if we do a good job, other big cities will be following along," he says.

He looks on the board as a social invention that should be given an opportunity to prove itself.

Asks for Chance

That sentiment was echoed Monday by Major John V. Lindsay, who urged the city's 28,000 policemen to "please give this board a chance."

Patrolman John Cassese, head of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, said he would continue to press for a public referendum on the board. The association has denounced the review board as damaging to police morale and efficiency.

Peace Candidate Speaks Thursday

Eric Lindbloom of Poughkeepsie, independent peace candidate in the 28th Congressional District race, will officially open his campaign with a kick-off rally on Thursday at 8:15 p. m. at the Oakwood School, Poughkeepsie.

Featured at the rally will be a dramatic reading, written by the noted author and Oscar-winning screenwriter, Howard Koch, of Woodstock and performed by a cast of four actors and three musicians. The hour-long presentation was premiered recently in Woodstock at the Maverick Gallery and is slated for performance in Los Angeles later this summer.

Lindbloom, who will deliver a major address at the rally, has centered his campaign around the issue of bringing an end to the war in Viet Nam. To this end he has urged a halt to all U. S. bombing of both North and South Vietnam and a defensive strategy in the ground war until cease-fire can be arranged.

Oil derricks have developed from 60-foot wooden structures to steel giants up to 200 feet high.

APPEARING IN CIRCUS—An elephant ballet will be a feature event in the 1966 edition of the Mills Brothers Three-Ring Circus coming to Saugerties Aug. 3. Sponsoring the afternoon and evening performances will be the Saugerties Rotary Club. Proceeds will be contributed toward reconstruction of the old Saugerties grist mill.
Members will be allowed special reduced rate tickets, currently on sale from Rotary Club members. The circus is slated for one day only.

SAUGERTIES NEWS Artist Pike Designs Patch For North-South Skirmish

SKIRMISH PATCH
(Artist's sketch)

An insignia patch designed by Woodstock artist John Pike will be the contribution of 120th
New York Volunteer Civil War
Regiment of Saugerties to the North-South Skirmish which will take place Saturday and Sunday on Washington Avenue Extension in Saugerties.

Teams of muzzle-loading gun-shooters compete for the most original patches and in past shoots insignias have ranged in military subjects from cannons, crossed guns, drums, bridges, minnie balls to crossed swords, ships and Civil War caps.

The original 120th N. Y. Volunteer Regiment was a valiant troop, holding a line at Gettysburg during the great battle. In memory of those who died there, their descendants have placed an impressive monument on the site of their station, a tall stone tower topped by the corps insignia, the diamond.

Artist Pike has used the 120th monument as the motif for the patch, setting the brown stone tower against a red, white and blue background, with letters in black and white. The patch will be somewhat larger than usual.
Some skirmish patches, as the years pass, become analogous to rare coins or stamps, highly in demand by avid collectors. The patches may this year, however, be purchased at the headquarters' tent on the field during the weekend exercises.

No admission will be charged at the skirmish, which is open to the public. The event will be held 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Saturday and 10 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Sunday, and will conclude with special demonstrations.

Sixth Grade Has Year-End Show, Glasco School

The final assembly program of the Glasco School was presented by the sixth grade in the form of a "commencement" exercise.

Robert Sinnott served as master of ceremonies. A poem entitled Ode To The Glasco School was written and recited by Barbara Buonfiglio and Marilyn Mauro.

Parade of Grades was the feature attraction in which groups of four recalled some of their earlier school days. They opened with four people projecting highlights of their kindergarten days and continued to the present position of sixth graders about to leave elementary school.

A look into the future was both humorous and popular with the audience. Kathleen Steltz wrote the prophecy which updated the class to the year 2066.
The prophecy was presented by Karinne Allen and Miss Steltz.

The class wrote their own version of the song, Cheer Cheer for Notre Dame. This song which took good-natured jibes at classmates, teachers, and friends brought the program to a close.

Music was one of the highlights of the program as the sixth graders presented a sort of miniature concert. The violin section included Karinne Allen, Kathleen Olsen, Paula Surratte,
Judy Stauning, Gloria Archer, Kathleen Steltz accompanied at the piano. The music selections were under the direction of Miss Mildred Brady, instrumental music teacher. Karinne Allen did a vocal solo entitled Blue Hawaii.

Woman, 22, Gets 10-20 Years for Shooting Mute

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A 22-year-old woman was sentenced today to serve 10 to 20 years in prison for shooting a deaf mute who was unable to understand her order to lie on a floor during a tavern holdup.

Miss Carla Leach, formerly of Columbus, Ohio, was sentenced by Judge Frederick M. Marshall two weeks after she pleaded guilty to a charge of first-degree manslaughter.

He also sentenced her to a 2-to-10-year term for first-degree assault, for firing her weapon at the tavern-owner.

Miss Leach was ordered sent to Westfield State Farm at Bedford Hills.

She was accused of killing John Johnkins, 35, of Buffalo, Jan. 22, 1964. Since then she twice had been sent to Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane after being adjudged insane.

Marshall declared her sane June 29, when she pleaded guilty to the manslaughter and assault charges. She had been indicted on a charge of first-degree murder.

Her accomplice in the holdup, Robert L. Hayes, 38, also a former Columbus resident, was acquitted last February of a charge of first-degree murder.

He was convicted, however, of second-degree assault and illegal possession of a firearm and drew a 8½-to-17-year prison term.

Police said he served as a lookout.

Bloomington Man Nominated as PM

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sent the following postmaster nominations to the Senate today: Dora Barbarotto, Buena, N.J.; Louis E. Di Laura, Haskell, N.J.; Hazel D. Smith, Bliss, N.Y.; Frederick C. Hofbauer, Bloomington, N.Y.; John J. Constance, Chittenango, N.Y.; Anna M. Phillips, Ellington, N.Y.; Helen M. Russell, Hamden, N.Y.; Ethel E. Cafferly, Harpersville, N.Y.; Laura E. Maben, Jewett, N.Y.; Virginia M. Dezalla, North Hudson, N.Y.; Frances E. Rosenfield, Roslyn Heights, N.Y.

Seeks Long Engagements

LONDON (AP) — Couples in love should be required to register their engagements with the government and wait six months to marry, the British Bar Association's General Council says.

"If marriages were made more difficult, divorce would become less prevalent," said a memorandum from the council to the British government.

"It is our view that no license to marry should ever — except in some exceptional cases — be granted until the parties have been engaged for a period of at least six months."

The government is considering lowering the age for marriage without parental consent from 21 to 18.

possession of a firearm and drew a 8½-to-17-year prison term.

Police said he served as a lookout.

BAGPIPES FEATURED—The Amerscot Highland Pipe Band which will play at the Woodstock Library Fair this year includes: from the left, Peter Bohan, art director at New Paltz University; Gordon Taylor, Woodstock, and Alexander Hossack of West Hurley. Missing from the picture are Art Sperl of Saugerties, Frank Hudak, Pipe Major; and Mrs. Sperl, Pipe Sergeant. The Library Fair will be held July 28 from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m., rain or shine, on the grounds of the Woodstock Library.

Woodstock News

Slate Bagpipers Parade as Apex Of Library Fair

The Amerscot Highland Pipe Band, twelve-strong, in full Scottish uniform, will provide an unusual sight and sound as they parade at the 39th Annual Woodstock Library Fair on July 28.

The uniforms, just arrived from Scotland, will be displayed publicly for the first time at the Fair.

Pipe Major Frank C. Hudak, whose solo bagpipe was a popular addition to last year's Fair, recently organized the Amerscot Pipe Band made up of area pipers.

Pipe Major Hudak, who is of Austro-Hungarian descent, first heard the pipes during World War II when his ship stood into a Scottish port overnight. Later his father-in-law, Robert Hunter Moore of the Yonkers Kilty Pipe Band taught him to play. For 12 years Frank was Pipe Major of that group, the oldest pipe band in the country.

Since moving to Saugerties

(Frank is an industrial engineer with IBM) he has organized the local Amerscot Highland Pipe Band, and invites anyone interested in "The Voice of the Fingers" to join the group. A drumming instructor is badly needed to complete the ancient, martial sound but meanwhile, the pipes and colorful tartans will add an exotic note to this year's Woodstock Library Fair.

Will Show Eight Films on France Friday at 8 p. m.

Six or eight short movies on the theme of France and its art will be presented in the Gallery-on-the-Green by the Woodstock Artists Association, Friday, July 15 at 8 p. m.

This program will not be a mere travelogue. The charm of the country's ways and byways will be in evidence but Gallic art and life will be featured.

Here are some of the titles: France, a Grand Spectacle; a history of French art and architecture from the Lascaux caves to Versailles.

Painter and the Poet: the story of Delacroix and Baudelaire from the canvases of the painter and the words of the poet—engravings of the time.

A Town Called Paris: the nostalgic Paris of cobblestones in the rain; the romantic Paris of modern "midnettes" and scooter-riding boys. Roman Africa: the Roman Period of the former French colony of Algeria—archaeology, Roman life as seen in excavated mosaics.

Cathedrals of France: in the mirror of the seasons. The beauty of both the well-known and the smaller cathedrals. This, a film selected by the Venice Festival. The Story of French Painting: illustrated by examples from the four principal museums of Paris, including the Louvre.

Also, other shorts, if time permits: Impressions of Brittany, Artists at Work in Montmartre, and the old city of Carcassonne. A provocative list, we think. These are all in English, and in color.

Life to Be Topic Of CS Services

"Life" is the subject for this week's Sunday services in all Christian Science churches. The Bible lesson-sermon includes the account of Jesus raising Jairus' daughter from the dead (Mark 5).

The Golden Text is from John: "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

Readings from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include this passage: "The way is straight and narrow, which leads to the understanding that God is the only Life. It is a warfare with the flesh, in which we must conquer sin, sickness, and death, either here or hereafter, — certainly before we can reach the goal of Spirit, or life in God."

Sunday services in Woodstock are held at 11 a. m.

Maverick Slates Exhibit, Recital

The Maverick Gallery, Chestnut Hill Road will present "Reflections of Landscapes in Drawings" featuring drawings by Clare Bush on Saturday. The exhibit will open at 4 p. m.

Saturday and Sunday nights at 9 is scheduled for performances by Marc Levin, whose program is entitled "Echoes of Sounds in Brass, Wind and String."

The gallery is open 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. Thursday through Sunday, and 7 to 9 p. m. Friday and Saturday.

Chamber Makes No Decision on Curfew

At its recent membership meeting the Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce discussed the curfew restrictions being considered by the Town Board. No decision was reached.

A committee was appointed, headed by Richard Langham of Special Office Services and Hal Martin, newly appointed executive secretary of the chamber. The committee will study the experiences of resort communities now operating under curfew laws and report its findings to the general membership. It is felt the study will enable the chamber to formulate a position on this important issue.

Demo Club Sets Panel Thursday On Area Zoning

"Zoning in Woodstock—Its Implementation, Present Effectiveness and Future Promise" will be the subject of a panel discussion at Deane's, Thursday, July 21 at 8 p. m.

Another in the Woodstock Democratic Club's series of public information forums, the panel members will be Malcolm Rose, Mrs. Reginald Wilson and Mrs. Ernest Wittner. The panel discussion will be moderated by John Bonilla, IBM engineer and Democratic Town Chairman.

Rose, a Woodstock building contractor, is a member of Woodstock Planning Board, the group responsible for planning the township's growth. It is also responsible for plat approval of subdivisions. Mrs. Wilson, noted Woodstock artist, is also a member of the Planning Board as well as the Zoning Board of Appeals. The Zoning Board of Appeals is the present quasi-judicial board, appointed by the Woodstock Town Board, which hears citizens' appeals of the Building Inspector's decisions as he implements the Zoning Ordinance.

Mrs. Wittner, a Woodstock housewife, was a member of the Zoning Commission, the group which drafted a proposed zoning ordinance and submitted it to the Town Board. The present Ordinance is an outgrowth of their proposal. Having fulfilled their sole purpose, the Zoning Commission was dissolved by the Town Board.

Peter Grad, Democratic Club president, stated that, "Much confusion still exists in the minds of many citizens with regard to zoning. Some dissatisfaction with the present zoning state of affairs is also apparent in the community. We believe that the July 21st forum will provide an opportunity to clear up much of the confusion and perhaps even assuage some of the dissatisfaction. It is now up to the public and the press to take advantage of this unique opportunity by attending the forum."

Cuba Censoring Mails

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A newly arrived refugee said today that Cuba has increased its censorship of mail.

Felix Monzon, 28, a former messenger for the Cuban Telegraph Co., said government agents opened mail to and from the United States. If outgoing mail contained criticism of the Cuban government, the sender would be investigated, Monzon said.

He said many persons have been arrested for mailing out letters criticizing the Castro regime.

SIDESPLITTER—Italian actress Rosanno Schiaffino may be well-covered up in front and back but she's well-ventilated on the side in this outfit for her new film, "A Witch in Love." Siding up to the open-sided beauty is costar Richard Johnson.

Eggs are graded immediately after they are laid and gradually decrease in quality from then on. Once broken, a fresh grade AA (highest quality) egg can be detected because it spreads over much less of an area than do eggs of lower grades. It also displays a round and upstanding yolk and a large portion of firm, thick white and a medium-sized outer margin of thin white.

Surveyor Sends Back Pictures

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 1 resumed early today sending sharply focused pictures of its lunar surroundings, but the spacecraft's sick battery makes scientists' plan indefinite.

A spokesman at Jet Propulsion Laboratory said Surveyor's battery was operating well during the short picture-taking sessions but "we're feeling our way along."

He said the photographs duplicated some taken of the moon's surface after the 620-pound craft's soft landing June 1.

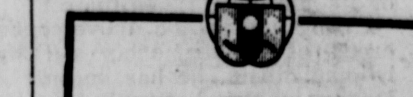

More photos are planned to night, the spokesman said, if the battery survives. The power cell, operating at its normal 115-degree temperature, was weakened Friday when its temperature inexplicably rose to 140 degrees.

McNamara Says Program Saved $14-Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says his cost-reduction program has saved the taxpayers $14 billion over the past five years — $4.5 billion last year alone.

McNamara made the figures public Sunday night in a report on his program. He noted that the savings had been made "despite the extraordinary demands of our military operations in Southeast Asia."

McNamara scheduled a mid-afternoon news conference today to discuss the report.

There are three main principles in McNamara's cost-reduction program. He listed them as:

— "Buying only what we need" — fiscal 1966 savings $1.6 billion.

— "Building at the lowest sound price" — $1.3 billion.

— "Reducing operating costs through the termination of unnecessary operations, standardization and consolidation" — $1.6 billion.

In his report to the President, McNamara also indicated possible cutbacks in defense buying which has been inflated by the widening U.S. commitment in Viet Nam.

The secretary said "the tendency to overfinance and over-order is especially prevalent when our forces are actually engaged in combat."

"We came out of the Korean war, for example, with about $12 billion of surplus stock on hand — we hope to avoid a similar waste of national resources during the Vietnamese conflict."

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON Ap Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Just how big the nation's big business has really grown can be seen in this: The 500 largest industrial corporations represent only a fourth of one per cent of all income for 60 per cent of total industrial sales and 70 per cent of the profits.

And how fast big business has grown can be seen in this: The 500's combined sales last year of $298 billion and profits of $70 billion were larger than the totals for all U.S. industry only 10 years ago.

Profits Given

These figures, compiled by Fortune magazine, also show that profits of the biggest have grown faster than their sales in recent years. The number of their employees has grown faster than total U.S. industrial employment. But assets and also sales have grown faster than the number of the top 500's employees.

Also, the 50 largest companies tend to dwarf the other 450 of this select list by claiming a giant share of the sales and profits and assets.

In business, the United States is truly a land of the big. And the big have been getting bigger year by year in the Soaring Sixties.

Small business has been prospering, too. And once-small companies continue to climb toward the top 500, and each year some of them displace former occupants of the circle of the leaders.

16.1 PC Increase

The $20 billion in profits by the top 500 last year was a 16.1 per cent increase over 1964. A third of this $20 billion was accounted for by the top 10 companies.

Sixty companies had sales of more than $1 billion each, five more than in 1964. The $298 billion total for the 500 was up 11.8 per cent.

Thus profits were growing faster than sales in 1965, widening the profit margins. The return on sales went to 5.5 per cent, from 5 per cent in 1964 and 4.3 per cent in 1963.

Profits per dollar of invested capital also grew. The median gain for the 500 was 11.8 per

Mohawk Adds Flights During Strike Crisis

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — One airline serving New York City, Syracuse and Rochester reduced its flights between those cities today, while another added to its service as a result of the current strike against five major carriers.

American Airlines announced Monday a curtailed schedule and Mohawk Airlines said it would add four jet flights daily between Syracuse and New York and six between Rochester and New York.

Both are temporary measures, the lines said.

Airplanes freed from the Upstate service, an American spokesman said, will be used to supplement the carrier's flights between New York and Washington and New York and Cleveland. Both routes have been hard-hit by the strike, he said.

Albion Man Gets 5-10 Attica Term In Shooting Death

ALBION, N.Y. (AP) — A 27-year-old man has been ordered sent to Attica State Prison for five to 10 years in the fatal shooting of another man, which police said, climaxed an argument over a card game.

Thomas Moran Jr. of Albion received the sentence Monday from Judge J. Kenneth Servo of Orleans County Court.

He pleaded guilty May 21 to a charge of second-degree murder in the death March 5 of Willie J. Watson, 32, of Albion, in a nearby restaurant. He had been indicted on a charge of first-degree murder.

Moran lived at 277 Washington St. Watson's address was 128 Clarendon St.

Nickerson Raps Rockefeller for Tolerating SLA

NEW YORK (AP) — Nassau County Executive Eugene H. Nickerson has charged Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller with tolerating a "scandalous situation" in the State Liquor Authority (SLA).

"It was general knowledge that the situation in the SLA stank and the governor tolerated it," Nickerson, one of the four announced candidates for nomination, said Sunday on the WCBS-TV "Newsmakers" program.

"It was an open and notorious situation in which a person had to go to a Republican-oriented lawyer to get a liquor license," Nickerson said.

Rockefeller is vacationing in Europe.

City Council President Frank D. O'Connor, also seeking the nomination, said he would win nomination on the first ballot at the Democratic state convention if it were held now. He made the statement to newsmen after appearing on the WNBC-TV "Searchlight" program.

O'Connor said he has been pledged the support of more than 600 delegates, well above the 573 needed for the nomination. Nickerson challenged O'Connor's contention, saying he doubted the former Queens district attorney had more than 400 votes lined up.

Killed by Truck

PAINTER, Va. (AP) — Harland L. Warriner, 20, of the Southern Tier community of Greenwood, N.Y., was struck and killed by a tractor-trailer Monday while pushing a disabled truck.

State Police said Warriner was pushing a truck owned by Bruce R. Stubbs of Alfred Station, also in New York State's Southern Tier, when the accident occurred on Route 13, near here.

Troopers said Warriner was hit by a tractor-trailer operated by David W. Larrabee of Ontario, Canada. A second highway rig, operated by Richard R. Taylor of Ontario, crashed into the wreckage.

Answer Taxpayer Queries on U.S. Fiscal Policies

EDITOR'S NOTE — The Associated Press has just completed a survey in which average newspaper readers across the country were asked what interested or troubled them most about the United States and the world today. A series of typical readers' questions were selected from the poll. This article about government income and debt is one of several dealing with those questions.

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — A reader asks: "Where does the government get its money? How is it spent? Does the growing debt mean we can go broke?"

The harried American taxpayer — from the unskilled laborer to the corporation president — is the largest single source of Uncle Sam's money. And so long as the taxpayer ponies up, the government won't go broke.

People Must Pay

"It all goes back to the ability to tax," one government official explains. "If the people are willing to pay taxes to pay expenses or finance the debt, the government won't go broke."

Some of the administration's political opponents contend the nation is already near bankruptcy because of its national debt which now exceeds $322 billion. But economists note that the debt — as a percentage of the nation's total wealth — has actually decreased in recent years.

The argument is a perennial one and no end is in sight. It's no secret, however, that management of the national debt is now a major question, and one result of a growing debt is ever-increasing interest costs to finance it.

The debt is nothing more than money owed by the government — those savings bonds in your safe deposit box, for example, comprise almost $50 billion of the total debt — and interest must be paid on it.

$12 Billion in Interest

For the fiscal year which ended June 30, the administration expected to spend slightly more than $12 billion just for interest and President Johnson has requested Congress to appropriate $12.9 billion for the next fiscal year.

The government creates more debt when it spends more money than it collects. Although it has had a debt since its founding, debt management wasn't a major question until this century.

But getting back to the taxpayer, President Johnson's budget for the fiscal year which begins July 1 calls on John Q. Public to contribute through his income tax 39 cents of every dollar the government collects.

Other Sources

Corporations will pay another 24 cents and excise taxes on such things as automobiles, alcoholic beverages and gasoline will provide another 9 cents. Employment taxes — such as Social Security, railroad retirement and unemployment insurance — will add another 17 cents while the remaining 11 cents will come from such sources as customs collections, estate and gift taxes and veterans life insurance premiums.

In present day America, government spending permeates almost every phase of life.

Here's how President Johnson plans splitting up the government's dollar during the year which begins July 1:

Defense Costs Most

Defense including the war in Viet Nam — 41 cents; trust fund payments such as Social Security and federal aid to highways — 26 cents; interest charges — 7 cents; veterans — 4 cents; space programs — 4 cents; international affairs including foreign aid — 3 cents, agriculture — 2 cents and all other — 13 cents.

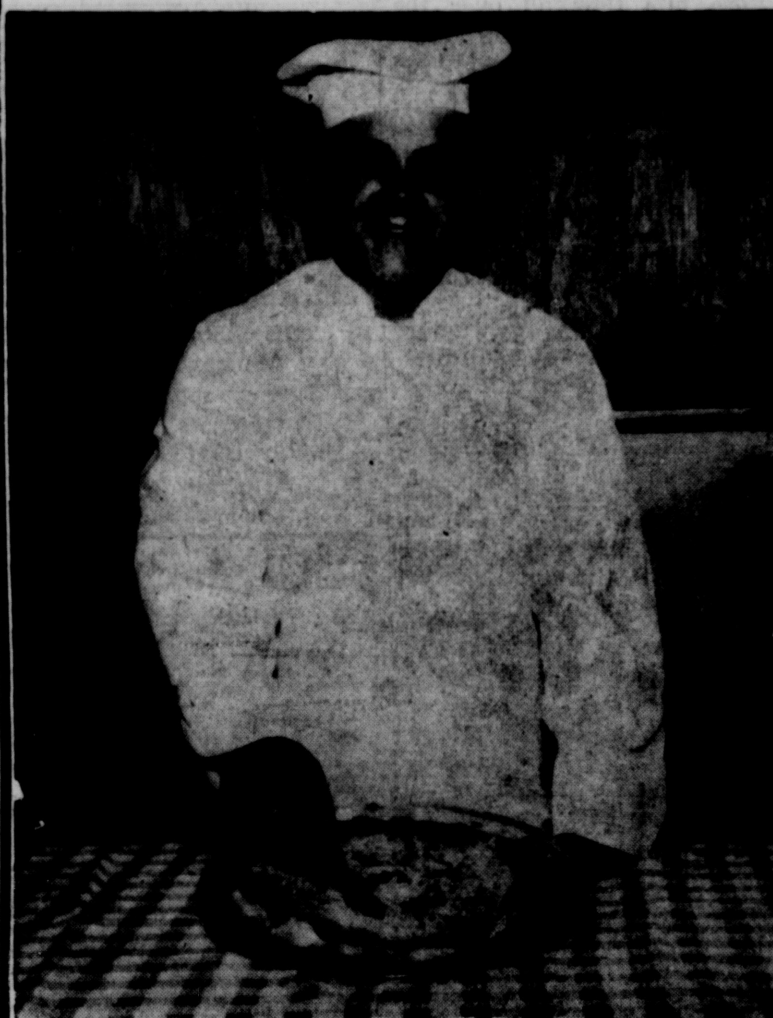

Eliminating the trust fund figures — where money is earmarked for a specific purpose even before it's collected — Johnson anticipated the government would spend $12.8 billion during the next fiscal year but collect only $11 billion.

That means a deficit of $1.8 billion which could be provided by borrowing money and increasing the national debt.

5th Win for Leaders

Herzog Construction Stops Schovel's, 6-5

Comedy Errors In Two League

The league leading Herzog Construction team took the circuitous route in squeezing out a 6-5 victory over Schovel's Tree Service in the City Baseball League Monday.

Three errors, a wild pitch and Ken Neslund's single in the sixth inning accounted for the two runs that put the leaders over the top. It was the fifth win in six decisions for Herzog's.

Pitchers Ron Thomas of Herzog and Gary Greiner of Schovel's allowed only nine hits between them but 10 walks and 13 errors made it a typical sandlot ball game.

Thomas, who struck out 12, allowed four hits, one a first-inning homer by Paul Giannuzzi. Greiner struck out nine. Each pitcher walked five.

Erased at Home

In the Schovel's seventh, Paul Buytkins doubled. On an attempted steal of third, Ron Meade's throw went into left field but Buytkins was thrown out.

VFW Topples Kiwanis; Elks-KPA Tie, 11-11

Base hits flew all over the Athletic Field and Dietz Stadium last night as the VFW walloped Kiwanis, 19-2, and the Elks and KPA played to an 11-11 tie in Babe Ruth League action.

The latter game was protested by KPA, who claimed a runner on third base did not have a helmet while running the bases. He was ruled safe and later scored the tying run.

Rick Sorenson was the winning VFW hurler on a three-hitter. Starter Jack Fitzgerald took the setback.

George Genuale, Ed Byman, Bill Brady and Bob Struble clouted two hits each for the Vets. Nick Ascienzo and Rich Oakley of the losers hit doubles.

Both sides had eight hits in the Elks-KPA slugfest with catcher Harry Anderson of the KPA slamming a home run and two singles. Catcher Frank Rahm of the Elks hit a double and three singles.

Revenge for Viet Nam?

Russia, Poland Cancel Meet

Refuse to Send Track Squads Against U. S.

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Following the lead of the Soviet Union, Polish officials today canceled their track and field team's trip to Berkeley, Calif., next weekend to compete against a U.S. team.

An official of the Polish sports ministry said the Polish Track and Field Association decided to cancel the meet because of the Viet Nam war.

The Soviet government announced Monday that its track team would not meet the U.S. team in Los Angeles July 23-24 and said the Soviet men's and women's teams had refused to participate because of the war.

Ambassador Protests

In Moscow today U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler protested the Soviet action and told Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko Washington did not accept the report that the athletes themselves decided to cancel the meet.

Kohler said the Soviet government was responsible for the athletes' actions.

Meet Will Go On

In Berkeley, Sam Bell, University of California track coach, said, "Whether the Poles show up or not, we will have a meet."

"We've already sat down and picked teams," said Bell. "It will be the highest caliber invitational meet ever held in the United States. We already have four competitors in many events, because there were two alternates picked in each, and we will get more."

Commenting on the Soviet action, Bell said he knew "the decision made in Moscow was not made by the athletes." Bell coached the U.S. team against the Russians two years ago.

Poland's cancellation, made on the eve of the team's departure Wednesday, seemed an obvious reaction to the Soviet announcement.

Only Monday night Polish officials were pressing the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw for the team's visas. There was no hint in Warsaw sports circles that the trip was about to be called off.

News of the Soviet team's refusal to compete against the United States had not been made public in Poland Tuesday. It was believed it would be announced simultaneously with the Polish decision.

A resolution before the Polish Track and Field Association said that the meet was being canceled in protest against escalation of the war in Viet Nam and bombings of the suburbs of Hanoi and Haiphong.

Ohio Youngster Leading Tourney

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Ralph Colla of Youngstown, Ohio, a determined teen-ager, worked on the practice range until nearly midnight Monday, preparing to try to hang onto his qualifying lead in the National Public Links Golf Tournament.

Colla, 17, who will enter Ohio State on a scholarship this fall, was the only player in a field of 150 to match par 71 on the rugged, 6,765-yard Brown Deer course in Monday's opening qualifying round.

The trials end today with the 64 low scorers entering double rounds of match play Wednesday leading to the 36-hole championship Saturday.

Colla, a bespectacled 165-pounder who was No. 1 player three years for the Cardinal Mooney High School in Youngstown, fashioned a 37-34 against the 35-36 standard. His closing nine, best of the tourney, came with birdie putts in 15 and 6 feet on the 12th and 18th holes.

He held a one-stroke lead in the shot for medalist honors today over defending champion Arne Dokka, 22, of Studio City, Calif., and Wayne Etherton, 31, a St. Charles, Ill., high school driver education instructor.

Slender Norwegian-born Dokka, majoring in marketing-advertising at California State, fired 35-37-72.

Etherton posted the best first nine of 33 with 12 and 25-foot birdie putts on the last two holes, then soared to 39 for 72.

The leaders were trailed by eight 74 shooters, including the 1965 medalist, Stan Poploski of Pittsburgh.

Toledo in Pennant Contention, Ferraro Cited as Big Factor

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Toledo's young Mud Hens, featuring an infield that averages only 22 years of age, are making a strong bid for International league honors and Kingston's Mike Ferraro is one of the reasons for the club's success.

While the parent New York Yankees are sinking towards the lower depths of the American league, Toledo, the Triple A farm club of the erstwhile Bombers, was in third place at the conclusion of Sunday's action, just 4½ games behind league leading Columbus and a half game from second place Rochester.

The Hens showed a 44-40 mark and a five game winning streak all on the road, as they moved into Richmond last night to meet the Braves. With 61 games remaining, the race is the closest in history and the Hens are very much in contention.

Is Batting .266

Ferraro, who helped his apparent to Clete Boyer as the third baseman for the Yankees, was batting at a .266 clip after Sunday's action, in which he stroked a triple and single in three trips. His statistics showed 293 times at bat, 32 runs, 78 hits, 25 run-batted-in and four home runs.

Bill Fox, the sports writer for the Toledo Blade, has been covering the Hens from the start of the season. His comments on the team in general and on Ferraro in particular are as follows:

"Toledo has the youngest infield in the league. Ferraro is 21, shortstop Bobby Murcer 20, first baseman Mike Hegan 23 and second baseman Bill Bethea 24.

Ferraro has a future as a major league player. Though he's only 21, the lad is perhaps the best gloveman in the International League. He goes to his left with the best of them.

His batting statistics are somewhat misleading. Mike hasn't had a good hot streak as yet and his average has been within 10 points of that .266 all season.

Bats in Cleanup

Though he doesn't hit with power, manager Loren Bae, who was his boss last year in Columbus, bats Ferraro fourth and fifth in the lineup because Mike doesn't strike out often and because he's a better hitter with runners on base.

Clancy Predicts KO for Griffith

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — The odds on middleweight champion Emile Griffith have dropped from 7-5 favorite to even money but the champ's handlers feel he is a cinch to beat challenger Joey Archer in their title fight Wednesday night at Madison Square Garden.

"I'll make the prediction for Emile," said trainer and co-manager Gil Clancy Monday night. "He's going to knock out Archer in an early round."

"Emile hits harder, although Archer is heavier. If it goes the distance Emile still will win. Remember Emile has gone the 15-round route 10 times and he's always finished real strong."

Archer never has gone the 15 and he'll find it a long haul — if he lasts that long, which I don't think he will."

This will be the 13th title fight for the 28-year-old Griffith. He has a 9-2 record for welterweight title fights. In his only middleweight championship contest he dropped the 160-pound Dick Tiger en route to dethroning the Nigerian in a 15-rounder at the Garden April 25.

Archer, 28, never has gone more than 12 rounds. He went that far last Dec. 13 in losing a decision to Don Fullmer in a bout billed for the American middleweight title.

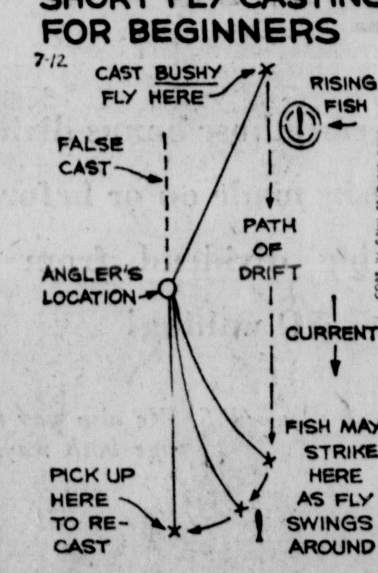

On the other hand, Archer never has been stopped in posting a 46-2 won-lost record. Griffith has been stopped once — a first-round loss to Rubin Carter on Dec. 20, 1963.

Murcer is the slugger and Hegan has developed into a fine leadoff batter because of his power and speed. Ferraro, though, ranks right behind these two lads as major leaguers of the future. If he doesn't make it next season, it will only be a matter of time. In my opinion, he has that can't miss tag," Fox concluded.

Ferraro, who has moved up a step each season since signing his bonus contract four years ago, has played more than any other in this year. The only games he missed were because of a slight injury a couple of weeks ago.

The Yankees are in the process of a second straight collapse from their usual high perch in the American League and the club's future appears to be with youngsters such as Ferraro, Murcer and Hegan. The Yankee Stadium might be just around the corner for this trio.

Auburn Is Tied

In NY-Penn Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Auburn jumped into a tie Monday night with Binghamton for the lead in the New York-Pennsylvania Baseball League as the Mets topped Geneva, 7-6, and Binghamton bowed to Oneonta, 4-3.

The third scheduled game, featuring Jamestown at Batavia, was postponed because of wet grounds.

At Geneva, John Gonsalves of Auburn provided the decisive run for his team with a sacrifice fly that scored Jim Dix from third. Dix had been walked by pitcher Bob Richmond of the Senators, who second base and went to third on a wild throw.

In the other contest, Binghamton pitcher Frank DeVivo walked Joe Silivonic with two outs and the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth inning, forcing home Oneonta hurler Charlie Miller with the winning run.

Catcher Lou Howell scored a pair of runs on two singles in the Triplets' losing effort.

Fails to Make Turn

At 1 a. m. today a car being operated east on Hooker Woods Road, Town of Red Hook, failed to make a left turn and the operator lost control of the vehicle which struck a tree and overturned. The driver, Andrea Rifenburg, 18, of Tivoli, received lacerations, abrasions and cuts of the head and was taken to Northern Dutchess Medical Center. State Police from the Rhinebeck station issued a summons for speed not reasonable or prudent.

Held on Larceny Charge

Johnnie MacMyles, 28, of New Paltz was arrested by state police on a larceny charge and lodged in the county jail for a hearing later before Justice of the Peace Rexford Schneider. The arrest was made by state police.

Floral Hanover Captures $9,728 Whitney Trot

Grand Circuit racing opened here at Monticello Raceway Monday night with Hugh Grant's Floral Hanover winning the $9,728 Harry Whitney two-year-old filly trot and Tudor Hanover taking the $9,394 Rupe Parker two-year-old colt and gelding pace. Floral scored for driver Levi Harner in 2:08.1 and then Tudor connected in 2:05.3.

Grand Circuit will be at the Mighty M for the next two weeks and it was kicked off in fine style in the Whitney as Floral Hanover, in the true tradition of the "Roarin' Grand," upset favored Flamboyant by three-quarters of a length. Favorites are often upset in stakes racing with some Grand Circuit embosoms and the Whitney was a good example.

Bill Haughton sent Flamboyant after the lead immediately and it looked like it wouldn't be much of a contest after that. But Harner, catch-driving Floral Hanover for Del Miller, had other ideas.

Harner took the grand-killing daughter of Star's Pride, Florella Hanover away easily from her ninth position and waited until the traffic subsided somewhat before moving her into contention approaching the half. Shortly past the mid-way marker, Harner sent Floral to the front with Flamboyant racing second.

And that's the way it ended except for the fact that the first two were some few lengths in front of the show horse, Lady B. Fast.

Louis Resnick, Ellenville industrialist, is one of several members of a syndicate which purchased the great pacing sire, Airliner, for $625,000. The syndication of the sire was made known by Alan J. Leavitt of Hanover, Pa.

Airliner, who ranked as the leading sire of 3-year-old pacers in 1965 and already has to his credit two 2:00 performers this year, was purchased from Larry and Hal Lynch Jr., who own the Shadydale Farm in Georgia.

Starting with the 1967 breeding season, Airliner will stand at stud at Lana Lobell Farms in Hanover, Pa., of which Leavitt is head.

In addition to Leavitt and Resnick, other members of the syndicate are Dr. Morton Fielding, Potomac, Md.; Peter L. Ruben and Paul Hertz, Monticello; Weaver Farms, Baltimore; Dr. Max J. Fischer, Washington, D. C.; U. S. Steele, Glen Rock, N. J.; Dan Gernatt, Collins; John Confort, New York City; William M. Camp Jr., Franklin, Va. and Mrs. Anna Jean Durkin, Dallas, Pa.

Resnick, who has been racing horses at Monticello Raceway for many years, is an official of the Channel Master Corporation of Ellenville.

Bobo Olson Wins, Wants Title Bout

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—

Grandfather Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco now wants another shot at world light-heavyweight champion Jose Torres after defeating European titlist Piero Del Papa.

Olson, the former middleweight champion, won a split decision Monday night over the Italian from Pisa in a 10-round bout at the Civic Auditorium.

There were no knockdowns in the match, but Del Papa staggered Olson in the fourth round with a right uppercut to the chin.

"I got careless in the fourth but I wasn't hurt," Olson said afterward. "And I was more careful from then on."

The judges voted for Olson, Johnny Lotsey calling it 6-3 and Vern Bybee 5-2. Referee Jack Downey saw it 6-4 for Del Papa in his first fight in the United States.

Olson, who was celebrating his 38th birthday, slugged it out with the 27-year-old Del Papa in the second, ninth and 10th rounds in furious exchanges against the ropes.

About 3,000 fans greeted the decision with mixed reaction. There is a large Italian population in San Francisco.

"I hope to get a fight with Torres after a short rest," said Olson about the man who knocked him out in one round two years ago.

Olson's record now is 94-16-2. Del Papa is 28-3-3.

Orioles Scout Dies at Game

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP)—

Barney Lutz, chief scout for the Baltimore Orioles of the American League for New York and Pennsylvania, was stricken fatally by an apparent heart attack Monday night while attending a baseball game between the Auburn Mets and Geneva Senators.

Lutz, 48, of Elmira, died shortly after admission to Geneva General Hospital. He suffered the seizure during the ninth inning of the New York-Pennsylvania League contest as he sat in the grandstand.

Lutz began his baseball career with Williamsport, Pa., of the Eastern League and went to the Elmira Pioneers the next year. He was called up to the old St. Louis Browns at the end of that season, returning to Elmira in 1946.

He was named an Oriole scout after the Browns franchise was transferred to Baltimore. Lutz was supervisor of the Oriole's minor league camp during spring training this year and in 1965 won an award from the Baltimore team as their top scout.

He lived at 628 Decker Ave. in Elmira.

Sheriff Denies His Office Failed To Serve Papers

Sheriff William B. Martin has issued a statement denying that there was any non-feasance on the part of his office or the employees of the sheriff's department for failure to serve papers on John J. Schick in the Primary dispute between James T. McCordie and Schick.

When the matter came before Justice T. Paul Kane at Albany special term Friday, the petition of McCordie was dismissed without prejudice on the grounds Schick had not been served.

McCordie later charged that there had been failure on the part of the Sheriff's Department to serve the papers on Schick, although on Thursday prior to the return of the show cause order in Albany he alleges he had been informed the papers had been served.

Sheriff Martin reports his investigation discloses that the show cause order was signed by Justice Louis G. Bruhn on July 6 and that there was a deadline for service on July 6. Although the order was signed on July 1 it was not until late afternoon on July 5 that the order was delivered to the Sheriff's Department for service. Two of the parties to the action were served on the morning of July 6 but the third party, John J. Schick, was out-of-town.

In reply to a statement by Mr. Cardie that the sheriff had "billed" his attorneys, Ewig and Beck, for the service, Sheriff Martin points out that "the billing for service in civil matters is always payable in advance." Also Sheriff Martin notes that "service of this civil paper does not require that the sheriff's office execute the papers."

"I can then reasonably conclude that any negligence in so far as service is concerned that it was caused by the failure of the order being delivered to the sheriff's office at a reasonable time and I do not find any non-feasance on the part of the employees of the sheriff's personnel," Sheriff Martin concluded his statement.

The action arose when it was disclosed that Schick had apparently defeated McCordie on Primary Day by 22 votes as the democratic candidate for the position of State Committeeman for Ulster County. However since there were 211 valid ballots, McCordie sought a canvass of the vote on the theory there are sufficient valid ballots which should have been counted which might lead him to victory.

A show cause order was signed by Justice Bruhn, returnable last Friday before Justice T. Paul Kane in Albany. Although the other necessary papers had been served, failure to serve Mr. Schick caused dismissal of the proceeding. McCordie has stated he will bring a new petition and seek a recount within the required period set by law.

MIG's Fire, Flee;

zens group," the splinter elements demanded "the immediate formation of a provisional revolutionary civilian government supported by the people."

The movement was spearheaded by dissident elements of the United Buddhist Church and the Roman Catholic Church. It was soon joined by radical members of other religious and political groups.

Air activity continued to dominate the war. U.S. B52s bombers kept up their double dose of daily bombing in South Viet Nam, pounding suspected Viet Cong concentrations two miles apart in the central highlands 55 miles west of the coastal city of Tuy Hoa.

U.S. and South Vietnamese pilots flew 741 sorties in the South Monday. The American fliers in 439 sorties reported killing 27 Viet Cong, hitting 325 enemy structures and sinking 10 sampans. About a third of the Vietnamese flights involved flare drops to light up night operations.

The two MIGs, latest and fastest models in the small North Vietnamese air force, attacked the Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs 35 miles northwest of Hanoi following a U.S. strike against a radar site.

Col. Aaron H. Bowman, 44, of Madras, Ore., reported that one MIG pilot fired two air-to-air missiles at his flight of Thunderchiefs. He said the missiles missed and the MIGs fled.

It was the second time in five days that Thunderchiefs were attacked by MIG21s firing air-to-air missiles.

Gillen Refuses

67 budget of $2,246,068. Of this amount, $1,293,000 is to be raised by taxes.

Monday night's resignation vote was called by Board members Jack Siegel and Frank Sahler, who had been censured several weeks ago for proposing Dr. Gillen's resignation. At a meeting July 5, however, the group voted to remove the censure.

After a brief organizational meeting, the Board went into executive session to which Dr. Gillen was invited. It was then that the organization almost unanimously requested the supervising principal's step-down.

Benson Abstains

The one dissenting vote was cast by Meyer Regenbogen. President Benson abstained.

Dr. Gillen promptly refused to resign, saying that he would "follow Dr. Crewson's advice and not move an inch until the August meeting."

After hearing the principal's refusal, the Board decided to explore the possibilities of setting up an "independent superintendent" sometime in the near future. This new position would be based on a renewable contract. Dr. Gillen's office is a tenure position. The Board will take some action on this issue tonight at its meeting 8:30.

Benson told The Freeman today that he had "no part" in the move to demand the principal's resignation. "My hands were tied both ways by Dr. Crewson's orders," he said.

He added that he "had told the Board of Dr. Crewson's request that there be no action until Aug. 1, but the members felt that that would be too long to wait." He said that Siegel and Sahler made the motion as soon as the Board went into its special session.

When asked about the possible outcome of the August meeting with the Albany official, Benson said that "If Dr. Gillen comes to feel that the majority of the Board wants him to resign, he won't stay where he isn't wanted."

The Board last night did not prefer specific charges against Dr. Gillen, but complained of "repeated budget deficits" and "teacher turnover" which were attributed to the supervising principal's administration.

Dr. Gillen told The Freeman that he would not submit any extended comments on the board's action or feelings until the August rendezvous. He did admit, however, that he thought there was "plenty of skulduggery going on."

Two of the board members who voted last night for his resignation, Dr. Arnold Wolf and Eugene Hauck, only took office July 5 and are really not acquainted with my administration," he said.

Mrs. Florence Kirby, who also took office last week, had previously served for one year on the board and had been employed as a teacher while Dr. Gillen was principal. She also voted in favor of resignation.

Benson had earlier emphasized that the request for State Education Department intervention was not based upon the request for Dr. Gillen's resignation, but rather "on the many problems facing the Board of Education."

Firemen Add $250

dution to the two during the weekend. The two fires Monday were in downtown buildings owned by Kingston Urban Renewal Agency.

Saturday night fire damaged the former Cornell building at 22-26 Ferry Street, now owned by the county.

Valley Museums Span Wide Era

Visitors to the Hudson Valley of the Empire State find a dozen museums which range in subject from dinosaur tracks to atomic energy.

Dinosaur tracks across a landscape of the past, with life-size models of the monsters, hold the stage at Dinosaur Land, Route 9, two miles east of Brewster. Guests can also do a little "gold panning" on the grounds. The museum is open afternoons, except Wednesday.

It is a few million years but only a few road miles from dinosaurs to atomic energy. Just south of Peekskill, off Route 9, stands the Consolidated Edison Atomic Power Plant. The exhibit hall in the plant is open for visitors afternoons, Wednesday through Sunday. It features animated displays of atomic power at work.

One of the oldest and most complete collections of fire fighting equipment is at the American Museum of Fire Fighting in Hudson. The Firemen's Association of the State of New York makes this available without charge from 9 to 5 daily.

The Empire State Railway Museum, at Middletown, displays equipment from the era of steam railroading and boasts the largest caboose in the country. A one hour, 11-mile scenic ride takes visitors for a pleasant tour of the countryside. Three trips are made each Saturday and Sunday, July and August, and Sundays only in late June and October.

The Old Rhinebeck Aerodrome, off Route 9 north of Rhinebeck, houses the world's largest individually-owned collection of antique airplanes. At Somers, birthplace of the circus in America, a Circus Museum is part of the former Elephant Hotel. "Old Beth," the elephant around which the first circus was built, is recalled in a monument on the green.

Old Museum Village of Smith's Clove, Route 17 near Monroe, is a "community" of 35 buildings housing Americana. Exhibits tell the story of early crafts and life in America. The Shaker Museum, at Old Chatham, has items that reach back to 1774 when the Shaker religious sect was founded. Four buildings contain furniture, textiles, a blacksmith shop, medicine shop, period rooms and other examples of Shaker inventiveness.

Other museums in the Hudson Valley include a Nature Museum in the Ward Pound Ridge Reservation at Cross River, Hall of Fame of the Trotter at Goshen, the furnished 65-room French Renaissance mansion housing the Mills Museum at Staatsburg, and Hammond Museum and Oriental Stroll Garden, North Salem, exhibiting specimens of fine arts and artifacts from forgotten eras of American, European and Oriental history.

"New York State Vacationlands," a free guide issued by the New York State Department of Commerce, Albany, lists attractions throughout the state.

Holt, LBJ Talks

LONDON (AP)—Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt will return to Washington for more talks with President Johnson on his way home from Britain.

Holt is an all-out supporter of Johnson's policy in Viet Nam and has said he thinks Britain should send at least a token force there.

Holt will arrive in Washington Wednesday and is expected to stay only one day. But he's led for at least two meetings with Johnson.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (A.)—The stock market drifted off irregularly today in sluggish trading.

Losses of fractions to a point or slightly more among leading issues outnumbered gains of the same range, but there was no particular selling pressure.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.95 at 891.14.

The market seemed to be contending with contrary influences, one analyst said. On the one side was the increasing tide of favorable second quarter earnings. On the other were tight money and the latest statements by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

With the airline strike still in progress, airlines took further losses but most of them were fractional.

A lower trend prevailed also among aerospace issues, motors, electronics, steels, rails and electrical equipments.

Rubbers advanced against the trend.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.0 at 322 with industrials off 1.6, rails off .8 and utilities unchanged.

New York Central, down 2, and Pennsylvania Railroad, off about 1 1/2, seemed to be reacting still to recent statements expressing opposition to their merger.

School from which he graduated in 1908. Shortly after graduation he was admitted to the Philadelphia Bar where he practiced law for several years.

Mr. Pitcairn eventually left the practice of law to devote full time as architect to the building of the world-famous Bryn Athyn Cathedral which is the seat of the bishops of the General Church of New Jerusalem, Swedenborgian sect.

Actively involved in government and civic affairs, he was closely identified with the 1952 presidential election as co-chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower Pennsylvania Committee and in 1956 as associate chairman. He was chairman of the radio forum of Nixon for President Committee of Pennsylvania in 1960.

He served as a delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1952 and 1956 and attended many other national conventions. Mr. Pitcairn served as a member of the Bryn Athyn Borough Council for more than 50 years.

Helped New Citizens

Mr. Pitcairn was particularly interested in helping candidates for citizenship obtain a better understanding of the principles of the country and their new responsibilities. To this end he spoke at countless naturalization proceedings and his booklet, "Today We Are Americans All," was presented to new citizens by many federal judges at naturalization proceedings.

He was also the author of "Walk Proudly Here America," a treatise on the spirit and significance of Independence Hall which has been presented to many thousands of visitors to that historic Philadelphia site and to libraries throughout the nation.

A leader in the fight for the repeal of Prohibition, Mr. Pitcairn served as director of the national association against the amendment and was particularly active in the Pennsylvania division.

From 1935 to 1941 he was national chairman of the Sentinels of the Republic, a nationwide organization designed to maintain the fundamentals of the American Constitution. He also prepared many articles on public questions for newspapers and magazines.

"I'm kind of glad it's over with," said Chaffee who lost 25 pounds during the swim and about five in preparing for it. "My arms aren't too sore and I'm in pretty good shape. All the bruises have disappeared, all the blisters have healed...and my ear infection is gone."
He said the bruises came from running into stumps and trees at the beginning of his swim, which began June 14 at Cooperstown, N.Y., and ended in Maryland, where the river meets the Chesapeake Bay.

Hot Weather Continues Over Eastern Area

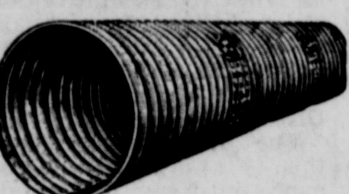

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Hot weather continued today across broad areas in the eastern two thirds of the nation with no indication of immediate relief.
Temperatures shot into the 100s again Monday from the Great Plains to the southern and central Mississippi Valley as the prolonged heat wave extended more than three weeks in some areas.
Two massive power outages struck areas in Nebraska and in St. Louis where the heavy demand for air-conditioning caused interruption of electric power. The mercury soared to a sizzling 106 at St. Louis, the second-highest mark in the city's history.
The Union Electric Co. declared an emergency in St. Louis and cut off power to broad areas of the city and its suburbs for up to two hours. Power failures in Nebraska were attributed to a relay failure at South Dakota's big Fort Randall Dam and a burned-out main transformer at a Nebraska power station.
Several areas in Atlanta, Ga., and vicinity were blacked out for a short time Monday when the demand for electricity ran ahead of supply, the Georgia Power Co. said.
Heavy thunderstorms broke out in the Northern Plains and Upper Mississippi Valley in the wake of the record-breaking heat in the nation's midsection. The Weather Bureau said a tornado dipped down east of Pierre, S.D., causing minor damage. The mercury climbed to 110 at Huron, S.D. Monday.
Winds of 50 to 60 m.p.h. swept areas northwest of Minneapolis and St. Paul late Monday night while wind gusts of 63 were clocked at St. Cloud, Minn., and 55 at Huron, S.D. The storms moved into northwestern Wisconsin during the early morning.

Mental Health Stresses Facts in Annual Drive

In connection with the reminders which have been mailed to all members of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, to renew their subscriptions to the local association, the following general statement concerning facts everyone should know about mental illness, has been issued from the association office in Kingston.
There are many different kinds of mental illness, ranging from mild to very severe. The less severe kinds of mental illness are called neuroses. The very severe ones are called psychoses.
Many physical illnesses have a mental cause; many mental illnesses may have a physical cause.
Some mental illnesses are treated through psychotherapy (such as individual or group therapy).
Some mental illnesses are treated through physical means (such as drugs or shock treatment).
The less serious mental illnesses are treated in outpatient services such as psychiatric clinics, or in the office of private doctors.
Serious mental illness is generally treated in a hospital where the patient can remain for continued psychiatric care.
Early Treatment Stressed
The medical doctor specializing in the treatment of mental illness is the psychiatrist.
In hospitals and clinics, clinical psychologists, psychiatric nurses and psychiatric social workers work with psychiatrists in the treatment of mentally sick people.
Early diagnosis and treatment are very important for recovery. Psychiatrists report high rates of recovery for patients suffering from neuroses.
Between 70 and 85 per cent of the patients admitted to mental hospitals with psychoses can now be released within a few months, or even weeks, provided they get intensive treatment right away.
Many discharged patients have to go back to the hospital, but it has been found that with good psychiatric after care and rehabilitation services in the community, the readmission rate can be cut from 35 to 10 per cent.
It is being found that mentally sick people—even the most seriously sick ones—can be treated effectively in psychiatric facilities right in the community.
Not Available Here
Some general hospitals, but not in Ulster County, now have psychiatric units where they treat patients with serious mental illness. Some also have outpatient psychiatric clinics, as well as 24-hour psychiatric emergency service the same as they do for other medical and surgical emergencies.

The psychiatric hospital serving Ulster County is Middletown State Hospital.

A new kind of psychiatric treatment unit which is now coming into being is the community mental health center, giving outpatient treatment for all kinds of mental illness. In Ulster County, this is the Mental Health Center at 400 Broadway, Kingston.

Should Contact Doctor

If you or a member of your family need psychiatric help for mental illness—whether mild or severe—get in touch with your doctor, as you would because of physical illness. If he cannot help you himself, he will be able to make a referral.
For information on the psychiatric services and facilities in Ulster County or New York State, the office of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, 27 East O'Reilly Street, Kingston, may be contacted. Membership dues should be sent to the same address.

Report Tetlow's Book About Cuba In U. S. Libraries

The United States information Agency has chosen a new book by an Ulster County author for distribution to all the libraries maintained by the U. S. Government throughout the world. The book is "Eye on Cuba" by Edwin Tetlow, the British foreign correspondent and author who lives at Alligerville, High Falls.

The choice has been made even though the book is often critical of American policy towards Fidel Castro since he entered Havana early in 1959. It has been acclaimed by reviewers all over the country as an objective and engrossing account of the Cuban revolution based on 14 trips to the island made by Tetlow since he watched Castro's accession to power.
There are over 220 American libraries in the capitals and principal cities of many countries in Europe, Asia and Africa. The book, which has been published by Harcourt, Brace and World, is now reaching them.

Report Cong Is Concerned Over Defector Lures

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Viet Cong leaders were reported today showing increasing concern about the effectiveness of the South Vietnamese government's "open-arms" program to lure defectors.

Intercepted Communist directives ordered commanders of guerrilla units to "take firm control of your troops" and diminish their exposure to the government's propaganda efforts.

One directive told the guerrillas to "cover your ears and shout" when government loud-speaker planes appear. Others told them to "beat on pots and pans to drown out the loud-speakers."

The guerrillas also have been ordered to "destroy immediately" leaflets encouraging them to desert.

According to government statistics, the "open-arms" program has been growing steadily. In 1965, a total of 11,124 Viet Cong guerrillas deserted their ranks. Through last Thursday, 10,171 returnees were processed through government "open-arms" points, about twice the number in the same period last year.

Announced by Moses Allot $40 Million Of Bridge Funds On Improvements

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert Moses, chairman of the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority, disclosed Monday that he had committed $40 million in authority funds for improvements.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, who has been seeking a way to get hold of surplus Triborough funds to aid the deficit-ridden Transit Authority, could not be reached for comment on Moses' move.

The improvement projects revealed by Moses include reconstruction of the Triborough Bridge interchanges and toll booths, replacement of the out-moded Cross Bay Bridge to the Rockaways and a new interchange for the Marine Parkway Bridge.

Moses said most of the Triborough Authority's anticipated surplus through 1969 will be "eaten up" by the scheduling of these projects.

A Triborough official said that about all that will be left is $8 million that Moses earlier had promised to contribute to city Park Department programs.

Lindsay sought early this year to get state legislation to consolidate the Triborough and Transit Authorities — which would have put Moses out of his triborough chairmanship. But the 1966 legislature adjourned without acting on Lindsay's proposal.

Adjourn Assault Case

Walter Joe Sims, 34, of 60 Franklin Street, pleaded innocent to a third degree assault charge today in City Court. Sims had been accused of striking Ernest Walker on the head in an argument June 24. Walker had to be taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment of head wounds. Sims claimed that Walker hit him first and that he, Sims, was defending himself. The case was adjourned to a later date.

Dismiss Robbery Charges Against Avery, Loeffler

A robbery charge, in which Richard L. Myers, 21, of Burlington, Vt., accused William Avery, 37, of 17½ Murphy Street, and Robert A. Loeffler, 41, of 31 Lindsley Avenue, of first degree robbery, was dismissed today by City Court Judge Hubert A. Richter.

The charge dates back to May 30 when Myers claimed that Avery and Loeffler offered him a ride to a diner and then allegedly stole $34 from him and dumped him out on the pavement.

The hearing was set for June 7 but Myers failed to appear and it was adjourned until June 15. Again Myers failed to appear, giving John B. Wilkie and Charles Saccoman, attorneys for Avery and Loeffler, grounds for a plea of dismissal. However, the attorneys for the defense requested a further adjournment, stating that the charges were completely false and wishing to prove it in court.

According to Saccoman, Myers had a lengthy record of juvenile convictions and had been arrested in 1965 for public intoxication.

Myers failed to appear at today's hearing and the attorneys for Avery and Loeffler moved for dismissal. Judge Richter dismissed the case.
